INDIA TEST-FIRES HYPERSONIC TECH DEMONSTRATOR VEHICLE

India on Monday joined a select group of countries that can develop the next-generation hypersonic cruise missiles

WILL HELP IN FUTURISTIC SPACE ASSETS

The indigenously developed HSTDV, developed by the Defence Research and Development Organisation, will help India develop futuristic space assets like long-range missile systems, officials said. The HSTDV is capable of powering missiles to attain a speed of around Mach 6, or six times the speed of sound. Only the US, Russia and China have such a capability

SCRAMJET ENGINE VS RAMJET ENGINE

- The HSTDV operates on a scramjet (supersonic combustion ramjet) engine, against the ramjet engine used on most missiles
- A scramjet is a variant of a ramjet airbreathing jet engine in which combustion takes place in supersonic airflow. Scramjet powered vehicles can operate at speeds up to Mach 15

RBI accepts recommendations of Kamath panel that suggests formula for lenders

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@New Delhi

A month after it announced a loan restructuring plan to help relieve Covid stress on industry, the Reserve Bank of India on Monday released the K V Kamath panel's report suggesting financial parameters for 26 pandemic-hit sectors.

RBI said it has broadly accepted the panel's suggestions.

According to the report, lenders must mandatorily consider total outstanding liabilities/adjusted tangible net worth, total debt/Ebitda, current ratio, debt service coverage ratio, and average debt service coverage ratio while finalising loan resolution plans.

Only those companies whose loan accounts are in default for not more than 30 days as on March 1, 2020 will be eligible for one-time restructuring.

RBI said the panel will vet resolution plans for all accounts where the exposure is more than ₹1,500 crore.

For sectors where ratios have not been specified, lenders can make their own assessment.

THE CHOSEN ONES

Power; construction; iron and steel manufacturing; roads; real estate; wholesale trading; textiles; chemicals; consumer durables/FMCG; non-ferrous metals; pharma manufacturing; logistics; gems and jewellery; cement; hotels, restaurants, tourism; mining; plastic products manufacturing; auto manufacturing; auto components; auto dealership; aviation; sugar; port and port services; shipping; building materials; and corporate retail outlets

The central bank said the resolution framework needs to be invoked by December 31 this year. Plus, the plan must be implemented within 180 days from the date of invocation.

RBI had on August 7 constituted the panel led by veteran banker Kamath to suggest financial parameters to be factored in while offering resolution for Covid19-related economic stress.

While banks are yet to ascertain the amount that will be restructured, India Ratings pegs the restructuring quantum from the corporate sector in FY21 at ₹3.3-6.3 lakh crore.

Ragini sourced drugs, had financial dealings with arrested peddler: CCB

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Central Crime Branch (CCB) police, probing the alleged drug case in the Kannada film industry, are said to have established that actress Ragini Dwivedi allegedly procured drugs from other accused in the case, Loum Pepper Samba, and had financial transactions with him.

Samba, an African, was picked up a day after Dwivedi was arrested on September 4.

Not protecting anyone: CM

Bengaluru: Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa on Monday said there was no question of protecting anyone with regard to the case, adding that the government has taken tough measures against it.

CCB sources said that Ragini was not ready to reveal much about her involvement in the case, but the investigation exposed that she was in touch with Samba at least for the last six months. "The actress told the investigators that she met Samba at a party and they were not friends. But we have established that they were in contact with each other for several months. The messages exchanged between them, which had code words, are like conversations between a seller and a buyer," an official said.

It is alleged that she procured drugs from Samba whenever she went to parties.

'Optics of fiscal deficit can hurt Centre-state ties'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

MONEY often is at the root of all ugly family squabbles. The lack of it is now threatening to fracture the giant, but fragile, Indian GST family. The Centre, which missed payments, proposed two options, both involving state borrowals, causing cracks in the One Nation, One Tax reform.

But there is across the board agreement that the Centre must provide for the shortfall, else it could endanger the spirit of Centre-state cooperation, as underscored in TNIE's exclusive group-chat with three state finance ministers.

Dr T M Thomas Isaac, Minister of Finance, Kerala was emphatic that states cannot sacrifice GST compensation. According to him, the Centre must borrow, but if it's too afraid of the 'optics of fiscal deficit going up', the least it should do is to empower the GST Council to borrow, while it stands guarantee. FOR BETTER BENGALURU?

Mayor, Deputy Mayor to get 30-month term

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

THE mayor and deputy mayor in Bengaluru will get a 30-month term (two-and-a-half years), instead of the present one year. Also, the number of wards in the city will increase from 198 to 225. These recommendations, made by the Joint Legislature Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike Restructuring Committee, were approved by the state government on Monday.

Besides, the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) Commissioner will now be called 'Chief Commissioner', but the decision to divide the city into five zones or 10-12 from the present eight, is likely to be taken at a meeting scheduled next week. Each zone will be headed by a zonal commissioner.

It was also decided that there will be eight standing committees, instead of 12, at the BBMP. The Appeals Committee will be merged with the Tax and Finances Committee, Education with Social Justice, and Horticulture with Markets. The Chief Commissioner will have a say in the formation of ward committees and the members to be a part of them. He can suggest who to include and what works to be taken up.

The government also agreed that a Member of the Legislative Council will have to forgo his right to vote in the BBMP Council.

S Raghu, chairman of the restructuring committee, told The New Indian Express, "Extension of the Mayor's term does not mean the serving Mayor will continue (for 30 months)." P2

Metro starts rolling, runs into hurdles

Footfall on the Purple Line on Day-1 equal to just one trip before the lockdown, as safety concerns loom

S LALITHA AND PREEJA PRASAD @Bengaluru

AFTER five months, city commuters could breathe easier as Namma Metro services officially resumed on Monday as part of Unlock 4.0. However, apart from low occupancy, another major hiccup for the Bangalore Metro Rail Corporation Limited (BMRCL) was that commuters found it difficult to go cashless.

TNIE noticed several commuters who wanted to take the Metro on Monday morning, but were unable to buy smart cards due to lack of e-wallets. In its SOP, BMRCL said the token system would be dropped, and smart cards could be bought and recharged digitally.

A S Shankar, executive director, Operations and Maintenance, BMRCL, told TNIE, there is no alternate mode of payment given the Covid situation. Once cases reduce, other options can be explored.

App runs into glitches

The Namma Metro mobile app, which was given much-publicity for its smart card top-up feature, was unavailable for download, as Google security checks had not been completed. The app, which can be downloaded on all mobiles except iPhones, was available on the BMRCL website from Sunday night.

A senior Metro official said that they had submitted the app on Friday night. "Security audits on Google Play Store take a few days. We expected it to be available for download on Sunday night. By Tuesday evening or Wednesday morning, hopefully, it will be available for download," the official said. Work is on to make the app available on iStore, which could take a month.

Those who had tried to top-up smart cards on the BMRCL website said it took an hour for the amount to reflect. The official explained, "Unlike other smart cards, where recharges happen instantaneously, here, the transaction has to be approved by the software that handles automatic fare collection of all 40 Metro stations. So, it takes at least an hour for the top-up to reflect."

Safety concerns

Metro stations on Day-1 wore a forlorn look, raising questions about safety, especially for women. At the end of the day, the footfall in the 91-round trips made on the Purple Line was equivalent to just one trip before the lockdown. Opening hour saw only 239 commuters, and the maximum ridership on a train from 10am-11am was just 1,046, official data showed.

Shankar said it was because schools and colleges are shut, IT professionals are working from home, fear of travelling by Metro, non-awareness of smart cards having to be recharged in advance.

New Metro cards sold 374
Revenue Rs 1.25 lakh

It became difficult to commute as we were dependent on the Metro before the lockdown. At the station entry gate, we were told we had to purchase smart cards through cashless modes only, which is not accessible to all

I would recommend that citizens use the Metro because all the Covid precautions are in place. Thermal screening is being done at the entry gates. My experience on Day-1 was fairly good, there is no need to worry

BIG CHANGE

New legislation to replace KMC Act

S RAGHU, chairman of the restructuring committee, said, ''The tenure of the Mayor and Council members ends on September 10, as scheduled. This will come into force after the next elections. Whatever was discussed at the maiden meeting last week was finalised today (Monday), while several other points of the committee report too were discussed."

He said that the committee had earlier suggested that Bengaluru be sliced further into 10-12 zones from the existing eight. "Today, we told the government to take a final decision. We suggested that if IAS officers of the rank of principal secretary are appointed, the city can have five zones, but if KAS-level officers are appointed, the government will have to form 10 zones. These officers (zonal commissioners) will work independently and take independent decisions, but in the Council, they will be answerable to the Chief Commissioner," he said.

At the committee's maiden meeting last week, the first 40 points of the report were discussed and finalised. The next 15 points of the report too were discussed. The committee has submitted 80 points in all to the government to formulate the Bengaluru Municipal Act 2020. The committee has written to Mumbai, Chennai and Kolkata civic authorities, seeking a copy of their respective municipal acts, to take the best out of them and structure one for Bengaluru.

Raghu said that once the new legislation comes into force, the KMC Act of 1976 will no longer be applicable to Bengaluru, but will continue for cities like Shivamogga, Hubballi-Dharwad and Mysuru.

The next sub-committee meetings will be held this week, and the meeting with the government is scheduled for next week to take more decisions, before finalising the new Act.

Today, we told the government to take a final decision... the city can have five zones, but if KAS-level officers are appointed, the government will have to form 10 zones. These officers (zonal commissioners) will work independently and take independent decisions, but in the Council, they will be answerable to the Chief Commissioner

Mismatch in dad's name, 83-yr-old made to run around for pension

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @Bengaluru

EIGHTY-three-year-old Narayana Rao has been running from pillar to post since June 2019 just to get his monthly pension of Rs 1,000.

Rao did construction labour and odd jobs for a livelihood, but is unable to do so now due to his age. He stays at a tiny house in Kanakanagar of Govindarajanagar assembly constituency, constructed by the Slum Board. Other than that, he has no other property. Since 2010, he has been getting old-age pension. But in 2019, aged pensioners were asked to link their pension with Aadhaar. That's when the problem began.

"I have the Pensioner ID card. My father's name is Gopal Rao which is mentioned in my Aadhaar card. But the Pensioner card has a different name. I don't know who did that. There is a mismatch of my father's name in Aadhaar and Pensioner cards. The post office where I draw my money is not allowing me to draw it now," he said.

Rao got his Pensioner card through an agent in 2010, who is not traceable now. After approaching the postal department several times, he is now making trips to the North Tahsildar's office. That's when he met activist Kalidasa Reddy who approached The New Indian Express.

"Rao has no income. Money is credited to his postal account till June 2020. But he is not able to draw the money. A letter had been given to the authorities, but this error has not been rectified. At home, he is ignored. He has breakfast, lunch and dinner at an Indira Canteen. He borrows from neighbours and spends part of the money on food," Reddy said.

Housing Minister and Govindarajanagar MLA V Somanna, assured that he will it sort out the issue.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

08th September : More on the Moon today. I'm sure you're all familiar with the concept of the Man in the Moon. Many people look at the Full Moon and imagine they see a face looking back. North American native people used to see a 'Rabbit in the Moon', or sometimes a 'Frog'. I rather like that idea: it brings a welcome touch of humour to the sky.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
It is almost impossible to say whether you will end the day in the black, or deeply in the red, for what is a correct choice one moment may turn out to be wrong the next. It's all in the timing! But, then, what's really important to you is that you have a partner's emotional trust.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
Even trivial and apparently insignificant events could reveal the true gravity of your situation. And even if life is complex, you should do your best to see that there is some sort of guiding pattern. It seems that simple solutions are never that far away.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
You may be confused. In fact, seen from one perspective, the more bewildered and muddled you are, the better, for you'll have a chance to question your current commitments and relationships. And once you adopt a critical eye you'll soon identify areas which are ripe for improvement.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
Forget rivalries. Teamwork is essential, but probably because of what is likely to take place tomorrow, or the day after, rather than what may happen today. To that end, you should make sure that you have plenty of allies, especially if there's a financial connection.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
You may press ahead with professional goals, even if it seems that others are holding you back. Those of you not at work should concentrate on activities which bring you enhanced status and prestige in the community. What you're really after is respect. I hope you get it!

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
There are emotional pressures at work, but one part of your horoscope indicates escapist tendencies. Do yourself a favour and plan a long-distance trip or, at least, spare some time for a decent day-dream! I mean, you really should spend more energy on yourself.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Business and financial affairs may be complicated, but that's an indication that there's increased opportunity for the odd profit. It's therefore a suitable day for bargains for idle shoppers, and for smart moves for those in the property market. Oh, and don't be put out by partners' rash judgements.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
As much as family members or people you live with may be determined to go their own way, they will also be ready to listen. This is therefore an ideal moment to persuade partners that you are indeed right. But will they pay attention Yes, if you choose your words with care!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
There's a fair degree of stress around at the moment. Astrologers blame that old planet, Pluto. You might want to look closer to home, and be aware of causes of discontent amongst people you live and work with. Take evasive action now and you'll thank yourself later on.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Although the stars are pushing you this way and that, keeping you busy, the Moon's position offers you some time off. If you are especially determined, you may make this a day of leisure, putting duty to one side. If someone expects you to wait on them, perhaps you need to set them straight.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
The world is moving your way, and you'll have a brief moment to seize opportunities. It's important to exert your own authority, especially at home. Perhaps surprisingly, family members may be happy for you to draw the line and define the limits beyond which they may not pass.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
It's not a bad day for short trips, but what is more important is an exchange of views. It doesn't matter where you go. If you still fail to get your point across when you arrive, it will be a journey wasted. And if somebody tells you that you're not allowed to do something, they might be wrong, but that doesn't mean that you shouldn't listen.

Congress all set to corner BJP with 1,200 questions

ENS @Bengaluru

CONGRESS legislators have prepared a list of 1,200 questions that they will pose to BJP ministers during the monsoon session of the legislature, starting September 21. The questions, prepared by a team of former Congress leaders, will be submitted to the Legislative Assembly and Council secretariats.

Opposition leader in the Assembly Siddaramaiah said they will take up issues related to the government's failure in containing the spread of Covid-19 in the state, alleged irregularities in the purchase of medical equipment, the violence and police firing in DJ Halli in Bengaluru, the drug menace, the Centre's stand on GST compensation to the state, among other issues. The issues will first be discussed during the Congress Legislative Party meet on September 16, the former CM said.

Criticising the Centre's stand on GST compensation, he said it must provide financial assistance to states by taking loans from international banks. The former CM also expressed concern over the drop in Karnataka's ranking in the recent national 'Ease of Doing Business' survey. "In 2017-18, Karnataka was in the eighth spot, and was in the 13th spot in 2012-13. In 2019-20, it has dropped to the 17th spot," he said.

DISTANCING NORMS GO OUT OF KSRTC BUS WINDOWS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Kalaburagi

DEPUTY Chief Minister and Transport Minister Laxman Savadi said that the Karnataka State Road Transportation Corporation (KSRTC) and other RTCs have withdrawn social distancing norms in buses.

He said, "The public does not follow social distancing norms anymore. Be it a two-wheeler, three-wheeler or flights, there are no restrictions. When this is the case, there is no meaning in restricting the number of passengers in buses." However, masks are still mandatory in buses, he said.

"Though buses are plying on many routes in the state, they are run on the basis of demand. Bus services between Karnataka and Andhra Pradesh have resumed, while we have written to the authorities of Telangana, Tamil Nadu, Goa and Puducherry seeking to restart inter-state services. The state government has not received any communication from them. I will speak to my counterparts in those states in this regard soon. The government has not written to Maharashtra yet in this regard," he said.

"The transport department has incurred losses of Rs 2.5 crore every day. Despite that, KSRTC paid its staffers with government aid," he added.

On the possibilities of the next Cabinet expansion or reshuffle, Savadi said, "It's the CM's prerogative. He might do so before or after the Legislative sessions and after holding discussions with the party high command."

Loan mela on September 16, no interest up to ₹3L

To help those who lost jobs during pandemic

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @Bengaluru

THE State government will organise a 'loan mela' at various places on September 16. This initiative is expected to help thousands of people who have lost jobs or find it difficult to continue their business after the outbreak of Covid-19.

It will be zero per cent interest for loans up to Rs 3 lakh and 3 per cent interest for loans between Rs 3 lakh and Rs 10 lakh. The funds will be released by the State government as well as from the Atmanirbhar Bharat funds. Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa is expected to launch the event.

Ever since the lockdown was announced in March end due to the pandemic and later too, street vendors, labourers, women help groups, agriculture labourers, dairy and silk farmers and many more have been struggling to make both ends meet due to non-availability of funds as well as market.

The loan mela will be organised in four regions -- Bengaluru, Mysuru, Kalaburagi and Belagavi. Various cooperative banks are expected to disburse the loan amount.

- 0% interest for loans up to ₹3 lakh
- 3% interest for loans between ₹3L-₹10L
- Scheme will be funded by State and under Atmanirbhar by Centre

Speaking to The New Indian Express, official sources from the Cooperative Department said that this is only a temporary scheme to help uplift those people who are facing difficulties during the Covid situation.

There are many packages — short and long-term loans to help poor class workers and women groups. Atmanirbhar Bharat funds will be purely utilised for agriculture-related works including dairy, sericulture, poultry and other farm-related works.

Cooperative Minister S T Somashekar is said to be behind this initiative. During the H D Kumaraswamy-led coalition government , a similar scheme was launched for street vendors where loan with zero interest was given. However, in this year's budget, Yediyurappa did not allot funds. Now, under the new initiative, the street vendors will also be given loans.

Floods caused ₹8,071 crore loss, CM tells Central team

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister B S Yediyurappa on Monday told a Central inter-ministerial team visiting Karnataka to assess the damage caused by floods that the State had suffered losses to the tune of Rs 8,071 crore.

In a video presentation on the extent of loss and damage, Yediyurappa said crops in 4.03 lakh hectares were destroyed apart from damage caused to roads, bridges, infrastructure and government buildings including schools.

A six-member Central team led by K V Pratap, Joint Secretary, Union Home Ministry, met Yediyurappa at his official residence Krishna. Highlighting that 22 districts in the State were battered by floods in 2018 and 2019 as well, the Chief Minister presented them a copy of the State's assessment of damage to life, livelihood and property due to the floods this year. The team will tour the State till Wednesday and make their own assessment.

"The State government is providing financial assistance under a visionary reconstruction scheme with the motto of 'rebuild with quality'. A sum of Rs 5 lakh for houses damaged completely, Rs 3 lakh for partially damaged houses, Rs 50,000 for slightly damaged houses is being given as assistance. And Rs 1,500 crore has been spent last year. This year, despite the Covid-19 pandemic, the State will bear the cost of Rs 200 crore," Yediyurappa told the Central team.

The State government has asked the team to recommend immediate revision to SDRF and NDRF guidelines to release additional funds.

"The Central government has set up four specific windows for the State Disaster Response Fund (SDRF) but Covid-19 has stalled our attempts. A sum of Rs 460 crore has been released to SDRF to manage the Covid-19 crisis and the flood situation. But the Covid-19 cases are on the rise in the State and there is an urgent need for additional funds to carry on flood relief and rehabilitation works," Yediyurappa told the Central team.

FIR filed against Congress leader Kavitha for attacking actress

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE HSR Layout police have registered an FIR against Congress leader Kavitha Reddy for allegedly attacking and abusing film actress Samyuktha Hegde at Agara Lake Park on Friday. Meanwhile, Reddy has apologised to the actress and her friends.

Police said that the FIR was registered against Kavitha Reddy, Anil Reddy and others, based on a complaint filed by Hegde on Saturday.

"She stated in the complaint that she and two of her friends had gone to the Agara Lake Park on Friday evening and were exercising. Meanwhile, Kavitha Reddy picked a quarrel with them and assaulted them. About 30 people gathered and one Anil Reddy asked her to remove her clothes. We have taken up a case and are investigating," the police said.

While Hegde had accused Kavitha Reddy of 'moral policing,' the Congress leader said that she was always against moral policing and it all started as Hegde and her friends were playing music and dancing in the park, and abused a guard, who questioned them. Reddy tweeted, "I have always opposed Moral Policing. I realise that my actions were construed as such. An argument ended up in me reacting aggressively as well, it was a mistake. As a responsible citizen and progressive woman, I own up to and sincerely apologise to Samyuktha Hegde and her Friends!"

SAHARA INDIA PARIWAR

BHARAT MAA
is our strength as a saviour from all evils

In your good days everybody seems to be fair, supportive, respectful and what not, towards you.

But in the slightest adverse circumstances of yours, many people turn unfair, unnecessarily oppose you, get disrespectful, publicise wrong things through media, and even go to courts with PIL etc.

A small negative point is so blown out of proportion that all the positive and rightful aspects are callously overlooked.

This is today's world. It is sad but we cannot change it. We have to live with it.

Today, only one small negative point of ours is that we are making delayed payments to our esteemed investors, though we are paying full interest of the delayed period.

THE REASON OF DELAYED PAYMENT

Owing to the embargo imposed for last 7 years by the Hon'ble Supreme Court, any money generated through selling or mortgaging our assets of the entire group (including Co-operatives) or from joint ventures will be deposited in the Sahara-SEBI account, as per the directives of Hon'ble Supreme Court. Out of this, we cannot use even a single rupee for organizational work not even for repayment to the esteemed investors.

On the other hand, till date, approximately ₹22,000 crore including interest has been deposited in the Sahara-SEBI account, whereas, despite giving four rounds of advertisements in 154 newspapers by SEBI in last 7 years across the country, SEBI has repaid only ₹106.10 crore to the esteemed investors. In its last advertisement that was published around a year ago, SEBI made it clear that it would not entertain any further claim thereafter. It means there is no claimant left. The only reason that SEBI didn't receive any further claim was that Sahara Group had already repaid to its esteemed investors. As per the directives of the Hon'ble Supreme Court, this amount of ₹22,000 crore will eventually come back to Sahara after due verification.

However, we have a very solid footing. Not a single rupee of our esteemed investors or for that matter, of any creditor of SAHARA is at the slightest risk. Nobody should think apprehensively as their every penny is absolutely safe.

THE LATEST AND THE MOST FAIR VALUE OF OUR ASSETS IS WORTH ₹2,59,900 CRORE.

WE ARE COMMITTED TO OUR VALUES AND FUNDAMENTALS THAT ARE VERY STRONG AND DEEPLY ROOTED IN OUR PUBLIC FUNCTIONING

ADITYA ALVA, VIREN BIG NAMES ON PAGE 3 CIRCUIT

Rented out family property for events; select guests invited to niche parties at star hotels; Ragini a common friend

BALA CHAUHAN @Bengaluru

THE names of Aditya Alva, son of late politician Jeevaraj Alva, and Viren Khanna, the man who had set ablaze the niche party circle in Bengaluru, especially for expats, figuring in the narcotics drugs racket, has sent shockwaves through the food and beverages industry.

According to sources, 12 names — including those of Aditya, Viren and realtor Prashanth Ranka — were revealed by the alleged woman drug peddler Anikha D, and are part of the FIR registered by Cottonpet police last week. Anikha was arrested with two others, Mohammed Anoop and R Ravindran, by the Narcotics Control Bureau (NCB), Bengaluru zonal unit. Anoop is from Kochi and is reportedly known to Bineesh Kodiyeri, son of CPI(M) state secretary Kodiyeri Balakrishnan.

Speaking to The New Indian Express on condition of anonymity, sources known to Aditya, his friends and Viren, said the former has been renting out his family property, 'House of Life' situated on the banks of Nagwara lake in Hebbal, for events, including weddings and big-ticket parties. "House of Life' was also the maiden venue of Bengaluru's 'Fly Dining' experience, which didn't take off well because of required legal and environment permissions, a source said.

Alva flees Bengaluru

Aditya Alva reportedly left Bengaluru soon after the NCB busted the contraband drug racket late last month, sources said. The CCB reportedly detained his bodyguard for questioning.

"Aditya's close friend is a DJ, who is also a friend of Ragini Dwivedi. She has been spotted with her friend Ravishankar. The common friends are familiar faces at parties at star hotels and other niche venues," he added.

Ravishankar is a clerk at the RTO. His name figured prominently in the contraband drugs case, though it is not mentioned in the FIR registered by Cottonpet police against Ragini and others.

Viren is known at almost all star hotels in the city, where he hosts parties on a reported shared revenue basis with a select guest list, which includes Bengaluru's creme de la creme. He hosts the events under his brand venture, Viren Khanna Productions.

A certain class of people gets invited to these parties, where they can let their hair down. He has been organising expat parties for more than a decade, and founded the Bangalore Expats Club, said another source familiar with the city's party circles. Sources said investigation in the drugs network "will open a can of worms with names of political and social celebs coming out. Consumption of contraband drugs at parties is not a secret. Police should go after the drug dealers", said sources.

Arrested drug peddlers used delivery boys to supply drugs

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

As part of an ongoing drive against drugs, the East division police arrested 11 drug peddlers with international and interstate links, who allegedly sourced synthetic drugs on the darknet. Narcotics worth Rs 90 lakh were seized from them.

The Halasur police arrested a BCA student, Keval M Lohith, a drug addict who had turned into a peddler. He used to take part in rave parties in Bengaluru and Goa and started consuming drugs. "He became a peddler to take care of his drug expenses. First, he used his contacts with African drug peddlers to buy drugs, but later started sourcing them through the Darknet using Bitcoins. He and his associates targeted party-going youth and college students," the police said.

In another operation, the Halasur police arrested an event organiser and his aide. The accused, Mohammed Hifzulla alias MD, who had dropped out of BCom because of his addiction, ran an event management company, Fusion Entertainment Company, which organised parties. Hifzulla and his aides allegedly supplied drugs during these parties. "He sourced cocaine, weed oil and other narcotic substances from African drug peddlers and also through Darknet," the police said.

In both cases, the accused used online delivery boys to supply drugs to their customers by paying Rs 500 per delivery. The police seized 1,100 LSD strips, 980 MDMA tablets and 500 ml weed oil worth ₹47 lakh.

Meanwhile, Ramamurthy Nagar police arrested Mohamed Irfan, an accused in two attempt-to-murder cases, and seized drugs worth Rs 23 lakh. "A drug abuser himself, Irfan had turned into a full-time drug peddler. He visited Mumbai and Andhra Pradesh to source drugs and allegedly sold them here. Irfan, who also supplied drugs to Kerala, had rented a flat to run his business," the police said.

The South East division police arrested 20 people and seized drugs worth Rs 1.20 crore. In one of the cases, the Tilaknagar police picked up four students, who were allegedly selling drugs to their friends. Athithya Vohra (23), Prashanth S (21), both engineering students, Puneeth Kothari (22), a BCom student, and Nachiketh S (19), a BCA student, grew hydro-ganja in their houses and also dealt in other drugs, the police said.

'ACTRESS TRIED TO DESTROY EVIDENCE'

While Samba came to deliver the contraband, Ragini allegedly sent one of her aides to collect it. The financial transactions between the duo have been traced, but it is yet to be confirmed whether they were directly linked to drugs, the official said. The actress allegedly tried to destroy evidence by deleting all the messages between her and Samba. "But our technical experts managed to retrieve those messages," the official said. The CCB police arrested another person related to the case on Monday. The accused, Niyaz, who is from Kerala, has settled in Bengaluru for the last five years, the police said. His role in the case is not revealed yet.

Ragini's police custody extended by five days

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE police have been granted permission by the court to extend the custody of Kannada film actress Ragini Dwivedi by five days.

As the actress' police custody ended on Monday, the police prepared a fresh remand application that had details of Dwivedi's role in the case. The public prosecutor told the court that the accused was not cooperating with the investigation and that the police needed to gather more information from her.

The prosecution also submitted that the custodial enquiry of the accused was required in the interest of the investigation.

However, the advocate representing the accused objected that the actress had not confessed to her involvement in the case and the police had already questioned her when she was in their custody for four days. However, the prosecution argued that the statement by the other accused in the case indicated Dwivedi's involvement.

Considering the prosecution's request to extend her police custody, the court extended her police custody by five days. Following the court's permission, the CCB officers continued questioning the actress.

Meanwhile, the court also extended the police custody of Viren Khanna and Ravishankar, the other accused arrested in the case. The police have continued the investigation and more people will likely be arrested in the case.

Among the 12 people named in the FIR so far, the police have arrested five people and another person, Niyaz, who has not been named in the FIR.

No question of protecting anyone involved, says Yediyurappa

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister B S Yediyurappa on Monday said there is no question of protecting anyone involved in drug peddling and they will continue to take tough measures to fight the drug menace.

For the first time in the country, the Karnataka government has taken tough measures to fight the menace that affects students and youngsters, the Chief Minister told reporters in Bengaluru.

"We want to put an end to it and will take all measures to ensure that. Investigation is under progress and there is no question of protecting anyone involved in it," he said.

Bengaluru Police's Central Crime Branch officials, probing the drug peddling case, arrested Kannada actress Ragini Dwivedi and several others allegedly linked to drug peddlers, arrested earlier by the Narcotics Control Bureau officials in Bengaluru.

Police officers conducting the probe have been given a free hand and Director General and Inspector General of Police (DG & IGP) has been asked to even take up joint operations with other states, if required, said Home Minister Basavaraj Bommai.

Meanwhile, Opposition Leader and former CM Siddaramaiah said stern action must be taken against all those involved in drug peddling without exception. He added that it is not correct to make allegations against anyone without proper evidence. "Its not the media or the politicians who are investigating the case. Police are probing it, let them investigate and take action — be it students, film actors, politicians or their children. We will extend full cooperation," he said.

The BJP says it has nothing to do with Ragini Dwivedi, but there are photographs of videos of her campaigning for the party, Siddaramaiah said.

Covid eyesore: More than 80% cataract surgeries put off

IFFATH FATHIMA @Bengaluru

OPHTHALMOLOGISTS in Bengaluru say they have seen around 80 per cent of cataract surgeries being postponed during the pandemic, leading to severe complications and even blindness. Many senior citizens have been postponing advanced cataract surgeries due to fear of contracting the virus.

One example is that of a 73-year-old woman who postponed her surgery that was originally scheduled for December 2019. The next date fixed for the surgery was March 2020, but due to Covid, she decided not to go ahead with it. Even during the unlock phase, when elective surgeries were being allowed, fear kept her away from the hospital. Her condition deteriorated, and her eyes turned opaque. Unable to see, the woman tripped at home and suffered a brain hemorrhage.

Dr Shalini Shetty, senior consultant ophthalmologist, Apollo Hospitals, Bannerghatta Road, said, "We don't know how this patient was managing while being completely blind. Fear of catching Covid made her postpone her surgery over and over. Advanced surgeries like these need to be conducted, it only takes two hours."

Dr Shetty added, "More than 70 per cent of cataract surgeries have been postponed. There have been cases where cataract surgeries have been put off, leading to increased pressure on the eyes and subsequent blindness. Another condition we are seeing is diabetic retinopathy, a major cause of blindness"

Another ophthalmologist, Dr Shravani, with Ace Suhas Hospital, said that around 80-90 per cent of cataract surgeries have been postponed. "There are a lot of complications resulting from eye surgeries being delayed. Direct complications include retinal artery occlusion and glaucoma, which, though rare, are being reported now. These complications can get severe, causing blindness."

Talking about the importance of timely surgeries and consultations, Dr Ashwin Santosh Shetty, consultant, Ophthalmology, Aster CMI Hospital, said even if patients are anxious to come for operations, they should go for check-ups so that complications can be avoided.

Belagavi man gives free oxygen cylinders to needy

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Belagavi

A social worker-cum-entrepreneur in Belagavi has come to the rescue of critical Covid patients with respiratory issues who cannot afford or procure them. Venkatesh Patil of Belgaum Oxygen Private Limited realised the need of the hour and started refilling empty cylinders with oxygen, free of cost, to help the poor and needy in the district.

The dearth of oxygen cylinders had allegedly claimed the lives of several Covid patients. Several NGOs and social workers started collecting oxygen cylinders for the needy. However, after the they were utilised, refilling them became a challenge for them.

When Patil came to know about this, he started refilling empty cylinders bought by NGOs, through his company, BOPL. The cost of refilling each ₹260. Till date, Patil has refilled 1,882 oxygen cylinders free of cost. Many other NGOs have been approaching him with empty cylinders, and he has refilled them without charging a single rupee.

Patients shifted due to shortage of O_2

MAHESH M GOUDAR @Bagalkot

AT least seven patients infected with Covid-19, who were in private hospitals, have been shifted to the district civil hospital after a couple of hospitals ran out of oxygen late night on Sunday.

It is said the crisis arose as the private oxygen supplier had stopped supply due to technical glitches in the production unit of Ballari. This is the first time since the Covid outbreak that a few private hospitals-turned-Covid Care Centres have faced shortage of oxygen in the district.

As soon as the news reached them, the district health authorities rushed to the private hospitals and shifted the critically-ill who were on oxygen support to the district civil hospital.

Speaking to TNIE, Dr Ananth Desai, District Health Officer, said, "Though many patients are taking treatment at private hospitals, only a minimal number of patients are on oxygen support."

"The supplier to private hospitals has failed to deliver since two days. However, the shortage is only in the private hospitals but not in any of the government hospitals of the district. Deputy Commissioner Captain Dr K Rajendra has directed private hospitals to keep enough stock," the DHO siad.

Mandya starts doorstep collection of samples

AJITH MS @Mysuru

AT a time when Mandya is yet again seeing a three-digit case spike in cases, people, especially those from rural hinterlands, are reportedly hesitating to come for testing. The authorities have now started doorstep sample collection.

The district has 2,222 active cases. Sunday alone, it reported an alarming 230 cases. The authorities blame the rise in cases on the neighbouring Mysuru and other districts from where Mandya gets a high floating population.

Thirty-two teams of three members each including one health worker who will collect the samples have been formed for the district. And four teams for each taluk and each team has been given a target of testing 50 individuals a day.

"Each team will go to the neighbourhood of those identified as primary contacts and collect their swab samples for testing," said Mandya District Health Officer Manche Gowda.

He said that apart from the contacts, the high-risk populations, including those with conditions like cancer, TB and diabetes in these areas will also be tested. The DHO said that through this they aim at containing the spread. Since the sample collection is done in their own area, people will not complain about contracting the infection from the crowd at the testing centres, he added.

Meanwhile, the district crossed 60 successful deliveries among Covid positive patients. However, of the total deliveries, two children have caught the infection. But the DHO said they have recovered.

Ophthalmologists in Bengaluru say they have seen around 80% of cataract surgeries being postponed during the pandemic, leading to severe complications and even blindness among patients.

Hebbal STP may start ops by Dec

To supply 100 MLD to C'ballapur, B'luru

S LALITHA @Bengaluru

THE ₹250-crore Hebbal Sewage Treatment Plant, which aims to supply 100 million litres of treated water per day to Chikkaballapur, Bengaluru Urban and Bengaluru Rural districts, is expected to be ready by December. Once completed, it is expected to help in recharge groundwater.

The STP grabbed headlines on July 16, 2019, when the scaffolding collapsed, killing three engineers and injuring 16 workers. BWSSB Chairman S Jayaram told TNIE that the STP may begin by December.

Waste Water Management Chief Engineer V Gangadhar said that 78 per cent of the work has been completed by the contractor Environ Tech. Sewage water discharged at the Hebbal area will be given secondary treatment at the STP and then piped to Chikkaballapur, he said.

Raveendranath, Assistant Executive Engineer and incharge of Hebbal-Nagawara project in the Minor Irrigation Department, said that the recharging of groundwater will revive the borewells in the three districts.

The Irrigation Department has already put in place pumphouses and the network required to transport the water to the three districts. "A total of 210 MLD is taken from Bengaluru to recharge the groundwater. Forty MLD are already being transported from Hennur and 20 MLD from Horamavu. When the Hebbal STP is ready, it will help the districts get another 100 MLD," he said.

> Civil works for the project are over. The mechanical and electrical works are on and we expect all this to be completed by December
>
> V Gangadhar, Chief Engineer, Waste Water Mgmt

An old STP in Hebbal, which has a 50 MLD capacity, is being refurbished. "It will be stopped completely to upgrade it," he added.

The Irrigation Department has installed five pumphouses to facilitate the transmission. "The secondary treated water will be sent from Hebbal to Hennur, then pumped to Bagalur and then to Chikaballapur," Raveendranath said.

Upload quarterly reports on website, Rera-K tells builders

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

AFTER repeated appeals from the buyers association under the Real Estate Regulatory Authority-Karnataka (Rera-K), the authority has issued a circular mandating builders to update their quarterly reports on the website.

Though the circular was signed on September 3, it was made public on September 7. It states that a penalty ₹10,000 will be imposed for delay in uploading the reports from the due date and ₹20,000 per month in case of further delay. Even though there is no fixed timeframe for builders to upload their reports, the circular states that the due date as per Rera-K rules is 15 days from the end of the quarter.

The buyers association states that it has been 40 months since Rera came into effect and till date none of the builders have uploaded any data. They alleged that the authority and the State Government were not strict in implementing the rules.

M S Shankar, activist and secretary of the Forum for People's Collective Efforts, Karnataka Chapter (also known as Fight for Rera), said that so far, 12 quarterly reports should have been uploaded, but there are none on the website. There are 4,200 registered builders under Rera in Karnataka and 85% of them are in Bengaluru alone.

"Uploading the reports is vital as buyers assess the properties, choose the right property and evaluate the company's financial status and legal aspects based on the reports. It was also made mandatory because earlier the builder would ask the buyer to pay ₹50,000 to ₹5 lakh to get hold of the papers before making purchases. There were many cases where the builder would not refund the money to the buyer if the buyer was not keen to make a purchase. But this has not been addressed so far," he said.

IMA scam: CBI charges two govt officials

ENS @Bengaluru

THE CBI has submitted a charge-sheet against former sub-divisional officer (Bengaluru - North) L C Nagaraj and former village accountant N Manjunath in the ₹4,000-crore I Monetary Advisory (IMA) Ponzi scheme scam, before the special CBI court in the city, said official sources.

Nagaraj and the late DC of Bengaluru Urban B M Vijayshankar were nominated as the competent authority under Karnataka Protection of Interest of Depositors in Financial Establishments Act to probe the complaints against the IMA group. Vijayshankar reportedly committed suicide in June even before the government could grant sanction to the CBI to prosecute him in the IMA scam.

The CBI said Nagaraj had allegedly taken ₹4.5 crore from IMA director Mohammad Mansoor Khan to give him a clean chit, whereas Manjunath had reportedly taken a bribe of ₹10 lakh to fix a meeting between them.

14 monkeys found dead in Udupi, poisoning suspected

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Udupi

THE carcasses of at least 14 monkeys were found lying by the roadside near Nadpalu village, in Hebri taluk, on Monday. Forest department officials arrived at the spot along with veterinarians, and samples were sent for postmortem and forensic analysis to ascertain the cause of death.

A source told TNIE that owners of nearby estates may have killed the animals after the latter destroyed their crops. Ashish Reddy, Deputy Conservator of Forests, Kundapur division, said that the police dog squad was pressed into service to investigate the matter further. The details will become clear once the postmortem report is back, he added. Prima facie, it appears that these monkeys may have been killed at a different location and dumped near Nadpalu village. Concurring with Isaac, T Harish Rao, Minister of Finance, Telangana put forth the elementary logic of lower borrowing costs for the Centre and access to overseas capital. "We were told, if Centre borrows economy will go down, but if states borrow it won't. How can it be?" he wondered.

On the other side of the spectrum, Basavaraj Bommai, Minister of Finance (Additional Charge), Karnataka, said such confrontationist attitudes won't offer solutions and urged states to be prudent.

NIA summons Varavara Rao's sons-in-law

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Hyderabad

THE NIA has summoned English and Foreign Languages University Professor K Satyanarayana and KV Kurmanath, a Hyderabad based senior journalist, to appear before it as a witness under section 91 (Summons to produce a document or other thing), 160 (Police officer's power to require the attendance of witnesses) of CrPC in connection with Bheema Koregoan case on September 9 (Wednesday). Both of them are sons-in-law of jailed revolutionary poet P Varavara Rao.

In a statement issued here on Monday, Prof Satyanarayana said, "I wish to share the distressing news that NIA, Mumbai summoned me to appear before it as a witness under section 160 CrPC and also u/s 91 of CrPC on September 9, 2020. My co-brother KV Kurmanath, a senior journalist, was also summoned to appear at the same time and date. As you know, my flat was raided by Pune police in August 2018 under the pretext of collecting evidence against my father in law and revolutionary poet Varavara Rao. I stated then that I was in no way connected to the Bhima Koregaon case. The fact of Varavara Rao being my father in law was used to raid my house and cause mental agony." He has categorically stated that he has no connection with the Bhima Koregaon case.

Confirming that he would appear before the investigation agency, he said, "NIA notice adds to our family distress at a time when Rao's health condition is not very good and the pandemic is fast spreading in Mumbai. I am travelling to Mumbai in these terrible times.

NARROW ESCAPE

6 fishermen swam 30 km, stayed afloat for 12 hours in raging sea

MANOJ VISWANATHAN @ Kochi

THE sea was turbulent. All they had was a few wooden planks and life jackets. Death was staring at them. It was a sheer test of mettle for the six fishermen from Ponnani who were stranded midsea when their boat sunk into the swirling depths of the sea at around 3.30 am on Monday.

Clinging on to the wooden planks they swam for 12 hours covering nearly 30km before they were spotted by the fishermen from Ponnani who had launched a search operation in eight boats. It was an epic tale of survival against odds. The fishermen – Nazar, 40, Shefeer, 35, Munavir, 36, Kunjanbava 53, Subair, 40, and Swapnasaro Senapat, 52, a native of Odisha -- were taken to Ponnani Government Hospital, where they were given first aid after which they returned home.

The six fishermen had set off from Ponnani on Friday in 'Mahalaxmi', the boat newly purchased by Nazar and his friend Shafi. They cast their net in the fishing ground off Kollam coast and were returning with the catch on Sunday night when the water started gushing in through a hole in the hull. As all efforts to plug the hole failed they contacted fishermen at Ponnani, who alerted the fisheries department. The boat was located around 3 nautical miles off Edamuttom beach near Nattika in Thrissur district at that time. Though the fisheries authorities in Thrissur deployed a boat for rescue operation, the team had to return due to rough sea conditions.

In the morning, the Coast Guard deployed a ship and a helicopter for search and rescue but they could not spot the fishermen or the boat. At around 3.45 pm, the eight fishing boats that were scouring the sea off Ambathodu coast in Malappuram district spotted the fishermen and saved them.

"We shared our location with everyone and waited from 10pm to 4am, but none came. Around 4am the boat sank and we caught hold of some wooden planks to escape. Subair, who lost his life jacket, took the lid of the store room to stay afloat. We swam clinging on to the wooden planks till rescue workers came," said Kunjanbava.

"We were anxious as the search team from Coast Guard and fisheries department could not spot the boat or the fishermen. The fishing boat workers here were not willing to give up and they launched a search which yielded result," said Shafi, the owner of the boat.

INDIAN EXPRESS IS NOT AN INDUSTRY. IT IS A MISSION.

RAJNATH AND A QUIET KIND OF CRISIS MANAGEMENT

The personality of Rajnath Singh, stolid, calm and dependably old-world in his adherence to copybook, is not one that will threaten to dominate the headlines. But those qualities are often the best suited to execute a quiet kind of crisis management. Witness his passage during and, crucially, after the Moscow summit of the Shanghai Cooperation Organisation—and the viable language in which things were articulated. Meetings with the defence ministers of the Central Asian republics, to begin with. Using the SCO Contact Group on Afghanistan to bring India back into the frame on that front, at least nominally, where America's flip flop had left it abandoned on the sidewalk. Mutually acceptable words on anti-terror cooperation. Warm hugs with Russia, including on the Sputnik V vaccine, which could see India trials. The main course was the meeting with Wei Fenghei, China's defence minister and a general in the PLA. Yes, some tough words issued forth. China will not give up "one inch," Wei said, but Singh managed to hold ground without being provocative.

Of course, it is too much to expect an individual to have a dramatic effect on a scenario defined by deeper, systemic antagonisms and strategic considerations. But two ministers meeting face-to-face is better than what was happening on the icy Himalayan heights alongside—troops face-to-face, with knuckles tense on the trigger. The dessert came during Singh's return: he stopped by Tehran en route, and met up with Iran's defence minister Amir Hatami! Russia, China, Iran … that sounds like a different kind of Quad from what the US (and its countless intercessors in the Indian strategic community) have been boxing India into. The twists and turns of foreign policy may unfold over a somewhat more glacial pace than those of a page-turning mystery novel, but are no less fascinating for that. And its subtle inflections can be more determinative of our lives than we imagine.

UNLOCK, BUT DON'T FORGET CORONA NORMS

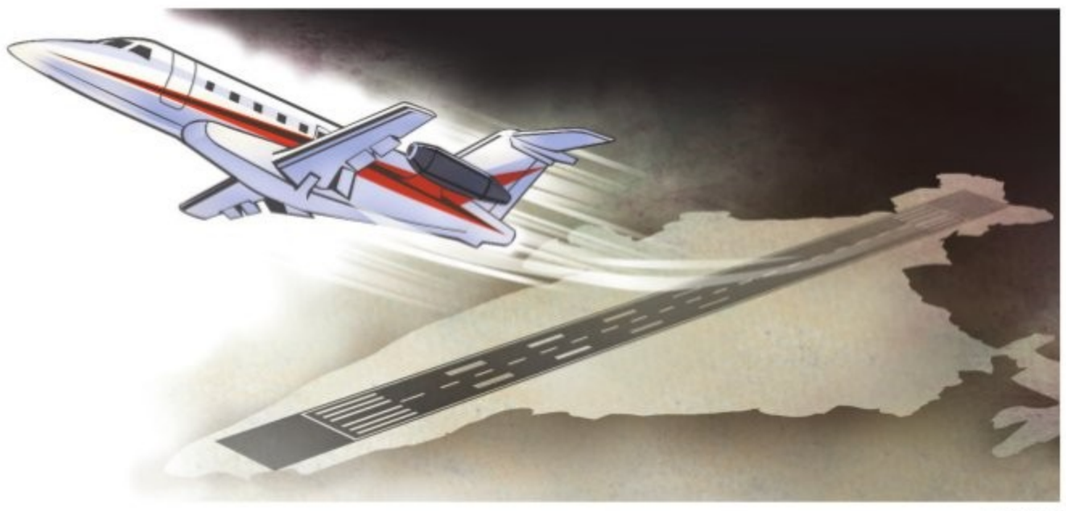
India has knocked Brazil off the second place with its 90,000 daily coronavirus positive cases. From Maharashtra to Odisha, states are pushing the daily tally relentlessly. Yet, to lift the economy from the depths to which it had sunk, the Centre has unlocked almost all activities. Pretty much everything is open now. And people, confined mostly to their homes due to the lockdowns and curbs for months, have unleashed themselves. The pictures and videos are everywhere. From the weekend markets of Chennai to the congregation in Odisha's Cuttack where hundreds gathered to catch a glimpse of the first flood water of the monsoon in Mahanadi river, social distancing norms have gone for a toss. The mobbing of actor Rhea Chakraborty at Mumbai was another low and came from the media fraternity.

Indians are simply breaking free when the country is registering its highest daily caseload. A deep sense of confusion prevails. When Covid cases were in two digits, the country was in total lockdown. Now when it's exploding, everyone is out. True, India needs to get its economy back on track; the livelihoods of millions are at stake and life must go back to normal. But we, as a nation, need to understand that behavioural chaos will not help. Face mask use, physical distancing and hygiene must take precedence at all cost. From what is being reported across states, this is not happening and people can already be seen flouting masking and other guidelines.

Suddenly, the emphasis on corona norms is on the wane as governments are busy opening up. The communication blitzkrieg that marked the early days of outbreak is missing. There is little evidence to show that the coronavirus scare is going to go away so soon. Vaccines will take time and if India needs to get a grip on transmission, the Centre must advise the states to chalk up fresh public communication strategies on masking and distancing with strict enforcement. That is the weapon at hand. The country had unitedly responded to Swachh Bharat; can't it do so for the pandemic?

Lack of focus and complex process of decision-making are some ills that have haunted civilian aircraft development in India. A recent announcement by the PM gives hope

QUEST FOR NATIONAL CIVIL AIRCRAFT AND THE WAY FORWARD



AMIT BANDRE

G MADHAVAN NAIR
Former ISRO chairman

I was listening to the address of the prime minister to the Indo-US business conclave during the first week of July. His announcement that India needs nearly 1,000 medium-capacity aircraft for connecting small towns to metros and inviting investors to come forward was an exciting one for the aeronautics community in India. This has been a dream for many of us for a quarter of a century.

Though we have made remarkable progress in the field of rocket and missile technology, we were hesitant to take up the development of an indigenous passenger aircraft for civilian use. It was the late Dr Abdul Kalam who mooted the idea of giving a thrust for aircraft development when he was president of the Aeronautical Society of India in the early 90s. It only partially succeeded. While Kalam was the DRDO chief, he launched the indigenous development of a light combat aircraft (LCA). A separate entity, Aeronautical Development Agency (ADA), was created for this purpose. It was an autonomous society under DRDO, knowing well that such sophisticated activities cannot be run under strict government controls. Today, we have a light combat aircraft of our own developed by ADA, produced by HAL and inducted into all defence services. An advanced version of this will make India self-reliant in this field.

The National Aerospace Laboratories (NAL) was established way back in 1959 under CSIR in 1959, before ISRO took birth. Its mandate was to carry out research, establish test facilities and undertake development of small and medium class aircraft for civilian use. It was headed by great scientists like Dr Velluri, Prof. Dhawan and Prof. Narasimha. They established wind tunnels for aerodynamic characterisation and new technologies in composite material back in the 70s. India's first satellite launch vehicle SLV3 was benefitted by the technical expertise at NAL and the facilities there. The NAL also developed two-seater trainer aircraft like Hansa.

The need for creating indigenous capability for aircraft was felt and a programme was initiated in 1980. The feasibility study itself took almost a decade and in 1991, a project for the development of a 12-seater aircraft development was started. The initial plan was to implement it with support from the then USSR. On its breakup, this fell through as did the cryogenic rocket for ISRO. Finally we decided to go ahead in 1999 on our own and the first flight of Saras, a 12-seater aircraft, took place in 2004. Two prototypes were realised as part of this programme. Several hours of flight trials successfully demonstrated its capability to take off from a short runway; it had most modern flight control systems, a novel concept of pusher engines mounted at rear, etc. The initial model had a mass overrun of nearly 900 kg and the NAL had plans to optimise the same through extensive use of composite material. But during the flight proving of the second prototype in March 2009, an unfortunate crash took place in which the precious lives of two experienced pilots and one flight engineer were lost. A detailed probe concluded that the failure was caused by a wrong procedure adopted for switching off the engine and restarting it in flight. The sequence was tried for the first time and there was apparently a communication gap between the engine designer and the team that evolved the flight test programme. There was nothing wrong with the aircraft design or realisation. Since then, several attempts were made to put back the programme on track but it has not succeeded. Had it been pursued vigorously, we would have had a small 12-seater aircraft doing air taxi air ambulance and military surveillance. I understand a modified version with 18-seat capacity to primarily meet the requirements of defence has been started by NAL recently.

While all these were happening, a proposal to set up a high powered committee (HPC NCAD) was approved by the government in 2010 to assess the feasibility of realising indigenously a 90-seater passenger aircraft. It had eminent scientists like Prof. Narasimha, Dr Kota Harinarayana, administrators like Chandrasekhar, etc. Dr Upadhaya, Director of NAL, was convenor and I had the opportunity to chair the National Civil Aircraft Design (NCAD). We assembled a team of 100 experts: some seniors who had retired from service and 50% young engineers. Within a short time, the market survey was conducted based on which detailed specifications and a preliminary design report were prepared. Using this, a detailed project report for implementation was drawn up. It was submitted within a record time of one year in 2011 to the government.

The major recommendations were: the country needs nearly 300 90-seater aircraft to provide regional connectivity; based on market survey and technology assessment, a configuration using proven turbo fan engine similar to the Embraer aircraft was finalised; indigenous development and production is feasible using the knowledge and experience of NAL, HAL and ADA; infrastructure available with government institutions for technology and design development is to be maximally used; the development phase was to be fully funded by the government.

> An empowered development agency similar to atomic energy and space commissions with full delegation of powers to manage this multidisciplinary multi-organisational civil aircraft development programme is the need of the hour

The report presented business models, management structures and proposals for a joint venture. The Planning Commission reviewed the HPC report and recommended that such a programme is required with government funding for development phase and JV mode for series production. The general consensus was such efforts would enable further development of high technology industry in India and integration into the global aviation industry. In-principle approval was given by the then PM in 2012. In 2013, the Centre decided that the NCAD may be implemented jointly by NAL and HAL through a special purpose instrument and a seed money of ₹10 crore was sanctioned.

Still the project got into turbulence with basic questions on use of old propeller engines or configuration using turbo fan engines as in all modern passenger aircraft. This was debated at HPC meetings and it was recommended that we go for a turbo fan engine for passenger convenience, speed and availability of engine, as propeller configuration similar to the ATR, which was tried by several operators for short haul was a failure. Non-availability of a modern engine and overall discomfort of low speed, added noise and lack of adequate AC were other disadvantages. Still NAL was confused and generated a new proposal for a propeller version virtually derailing the NCAD proposal. The only advantage being projected was it was suited for military transport needing operation from extremely small airstrips. But the passenger aircraft configuration may not suit military transportation, which would need a wide body configuration. The development of an aircraft for military use has to be delinked.

As there was no progress since 2013, the matter was later brought to attention of Dr Harsh Vardhan, the then minister of S&T under which NAL and CSIR come. He took immediate action as confirmed during his foundation day speech in 2016 in which he said that the matter was being taken up with the civil aviation ministry. But by that time, the configuration issue was opened up.

In a statement placed before Parliament, it was stated that the government is considering developing regional transport aircraft as well as other types of planes and helicopters. In a written reply to the House, Union minister Jayant Sinha said the issue of development of a Regional Transport Aircraft (RTA) under the NCAD programme in India was considered during a meeting on 18 May 2018. Further actions have been taken up as per the decisions at the meeting.

Now, since the civil aviation ministry is responsible for realisation of civilian aircraft and associated ecosystems, I am sure much more focus will be there for NCAD. As seen in the past, the wandering nature of R&D, lack of focus and complex process of decision-making are some of the ills haunting civilian aircraft development in the country. Successful management models as demonstrated by atomic energy and space programmes have to be adopted for the NCAD programme of nearly ₹20,000 crore (much of which will be recovered during the production phase), which needs to synthesise the efforts of multiple agencies, education institutions and industry.

WHY COVID WILL AFFECT TRIBALS DISPROPORTIONATELY

PRATAP C MOHANTY

A policy brief by the ILO in May underlines that the evolving pandemic brings new socio-economic repercussions, affecting over 476 million indigenous and tribal people (constituting over 6% of the global population) substantively. Lack of basic healthcare infrastructure, precarious birth practices, poor nutrition and unsafe water are some of the features of rural India. As a significant chunk of the tribal population belongs to rural areas, it is expected that healthcare facilities for them are not as robust compared to facilities availed by other communities.

The National Family Health Survey-4 (2015-2016) reports that various indicators of childhood mortality rates—neonatal and postnatal, infant, child, and under-five—are higher among STs compared to others. The under-five mortality among our tribal population is 57.2 per 1,000 live births, while the figures are 49.7 at the all-India level and 38.5 among other categories. The condition of Odisha's tribals are worse, as the figure stands at 65.6. In a recent study in The Lancet, Anderson et. al. (2016) show an ST child in India has a 19% and 45% greater risk of dying in the neonatal period and post-neonatal period respectively as compared to a child from other communities.

The prevalence of TB is significantly higher among the tribal population—703 and 256 per 100,000 among STs and total population respectively. Haemoglobinopathies and thalassemia are two unique conditions that fall under major health challenges among the tribal population from Andaman and Nicobar Islands, MP, the Northeast, Odisha and Bengal. As per NFHS-4, 59.9% of tribal women have some form of anaemia, whereas it is 49.8% among women from other communities.

The Statistical Profile of Scheduled Tribes, 2013, reported a deficiency of 268 community health centres, 1,086 primary health centres and 5,638 sub-centres in India's tribal areas. Tribal people are far behind in availing the benefits from the three-pronged healthcare network constructed to increase the health status of the rural population.

Distance to the health facility, dependence on transport, unavailability of drugs and people responsible for providing them, etc., are some key obstacles for tribal women as compared to women from other groups; 56.5% of tribal women cite 'no drugs available' as the major problem in accessing medical advice or treatment when sick against 49.5% women from other groups. Around 55.8% of children aged 12-23 months among the tribal community received all basic vaccinations, while other categories are better placed at 64.5%. Over a prolonged period, severe shortages of basic healthcare facilities are believed to be the prime cause of malnutrition and the prevalence of diseases such as malaria, leprosy and TB.

> The mortality rate in Brazil among indigenous people is double the national average. India, with a similar economic structure and a sizable tribal population, may also face such a situation. Hence, we need to be prepared

Road ahead: In the wake of Covid-19, health experts have often highlighted that compromised health conditions, low immunity and lack of proper medical facilities make people vulnerable to the virus. Tribal and forest communities are primarily exposed. So the government should ensure adequate awareness and healthcare infrastructure to protect their rights and livelihoods. It is impossible in the short run to bring a big change in their health conditions, but the establishment of awareness cells with better sensitisation and adequate supply of health workers to deal with Covid-19 can be a pragmatic option.

The lockdown restrictions have also affected access to forests and livelihood activities of the particularly vulnerable tribal groups (PVTG). Broadly two types of health resources in their areas are adversely affected. Firstly, their herbal medicine—a system that has almost collapsed over the years. Second, access to modern medicine through healthcare systems. Tribals are again expected to be badly dealt with, given the fact that the health centres themselves are under tremendous stress.

As per the latest statistics given by the Ministry of Health and Family Welfare, Covid-19 may not have yet caused havoc in the pockets of tribal-dominated people but have hit them hard in terms of their livelihood. Some global evidence on the impact of Covid-19—in particular, increasing infections in Brazil among indigenous people—indicate new challenges in the Indian context. The mortality rate in Brazil among indigenous people is double the national average. India, with a similar economic structure to Brazil and a sizable tribal population, may also face such a situation. Hence, preparedness in terms of healthcare availability, accessibility, affordability, adequacy and acceptability in tribal areas are the need of the hour.

The abduction of five Arunachal Pradesh youth by the PLA is unfortunate when discussions are underway with China to resolve the ongoing LAC standoff. The PLA should send them back as soon as possible to ensure relations between the two countries don't worsen.

India's message to China through fallen Tibetan soldier in Ladakh

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

IN a strong message to China, Nyima Tenzin, a member of the covert Special Frontier Force (SFF) who was killed at Chushul area in eastern Ladakh, was laid to rest in Leh with full military honours on Monday.

Senior BJP leader Ram Madhav along with the local MP were present in the funeral where the mourners waved both Indian and Tibetan flags and held posters extolling the Vikas Battalion (another name of the SFF). India has never publicly acknowledged the existence of SFF, initially called Establishment 22, which was raised with personnel of Tibetan origin after the 1962 India-China war. These troopers have participated in the 1971 war, the 1999 Kargil conflict but were never acknowledged officially.

Company Leader Nyima Tenzin was killed in a landmine blast in an operation along the LAC on southern bank of Pangong Tso on the intervening night of August 29-30. His funeral was held with full military honour where the mortal remains of the SFF trooper were draped in Indian Tricolour and the Tibetan flag. The shift in New Delhi's Tibetan policy is conspicuous as the government had in 2018 asked officials and leaders to keep away from events which were being organised to mark the Dalai Lama's 60 years in exile.

But, he asserted, the time has come to shake the complacency of Chinese. "It is China which is making roads through the Indian territory occupied by Pakistan."

"An important message sent through this public demonstration where the political leadership was also present. China cannot take India's peace moves for granted," Mehta said. "This message is stronger than Chinese President Xi Jinping's recent statement for Tibetans to be mainstreamed."

China: Never recognised 'so-called' Arunachal

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

CHINA on Monday said it never recognised the so-called Arunachal Pradesh amid reports emerging that five people have been abducted by the People's Liberation Army (PLA) from Arunachal Pradesh's Upper Subansiri district.

"China has never recognised the 'so-called' Arunachal Pradesh state. It is the 'south Tibet' region," Chinese Foreign Ministry spokesperson Zhao Lijian said during a regular press briefing.

The Indian Army on Sunday had asked the PLA if five civilians who went missing from an eastern border state days ago were in their custody. The Chinese are yet to reply to the questions. Zhao also said that there were no details that could be shared yet and that he was not aware of the situation.

The villagers belonging to the Tagin community were abducted from the forest near Nacho while they were out hunting. They have been identified as Toch Singkam, Prasat Ringling, Tanu Baker, Dongtu Ebiya and Ngaru Diri. The comments from the Chinese side come amid rising tensions since the June 15 violent face-off in Galwan Valley of Eastern Ladakh along the Line of Actual Control (LAC) resulting in the death of 20 Indian soldiers. Tensions flared up yet again after India announced that preemptive action was taken by its troops on the intervening night of August 29 and 30 to prevent Chinese transgression. Beijing accused Indian troops of illegally crossing over into Chinese territory.

Another statement from the MEA said that the Chinese side resorted to aggression even as corps commanders from the two sides were holding a meeting to resolve issues.

8 STATES BORE THE BRUNT OF URBAN FLOODING THIS YEAR

RICHA SHARMA @ New Delhi

INCIDENTS of urban flooding are on the rise with several cities in eight states — Rajasthan, Gujarat, Maharashtra, Karnataka, Kerala, Telangana, Chhattisgarh and Odisha — saw inundation this monsoon.

The country as a whole has so far received 7 percent excess rainfall with 27 per cent excess rainfall in August while there was a deficit in July. The India Meteorological Department (IMD) attributed the extremely heavy rainfall to low pressure systems in August with such systems reported on 27 out of 31 days last month.

With urban flooding reported from several states, Ministry of Earth Secretary M Rajeevan said that the IMD would want to expand urban flood warnings systems to all major cities. At present, Chennai and Mumbai have such systems in place and Kolkata, Bengaluru are expected to get these systems operational by next year. "It will all depend on availability of all relevant data and we have been working on it for other cities as well," said Rajeevan.

Extreme rainfall events are on a rise due to warming sea surface temperature impacting monsoon progress and many Indian cities in the past. Encroachment of water bodies, nullahs and drains and unplanned infrastructure development among others have further added to the problem.

On the impact of climate change on the behaviour of monsoon, Rajeevan said that it does have its effect and the IMD has worked on it but these impacts vary and there is no uniformity.

M. Mohapatra, Director General of IMD, said that the country is likely to see normal to above normal rainfall in September. In the second week of September, rain is likely to be deficient in most parts of the country, including northwest and central India.

Missile might set to get hypersonic edge

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

THE successful test of Hypersonic Technology Demonstrator Vehicle (HSTDV) by India on Monday by integrating scramjet engine technology is a quantum jump for the country in bolstering its missile capability.

India has joined the elite club that includes the US, Russia and China in having such a capability. The Indian HSTDV is said to be a precursor to developing cruise missiles which can travel six times or more than the speed of sound. The technology has a wider civil and military use.

The Defence Research & Development Organisation (DRDO) was elated by the successful test. "It is a giant leap in indigenous defence technologies," it said.

DRDO said the mission has demonstrated capabilities for developing a highly complex technology that will serve as the building block for the next generation hypersonic vehicles in partnership with industry.

The HSTDV successfully used a scramjet engine which takes in ambient air for combustion to acquire the hypersonic speed. The vehicle was able to touch a speed of more than 6,000 km/hour. Systems moving with the velocity at or above Mach 5 are categorised as hypersonic.

Former DRDO scientist Dr Ravi Gupta said the capability will change the profile of Indian missiles. "The success of scramjet engine will make the missile systems lethal by decreasing the length of the vehicle without compromising the payload."

Group Captain Ajey Lele believes that the technological success will strengthen India's nuclear capability and will make the traditional Ballistic Missile Defence (BMD) systems redundant." The BMD is a shield against missile attacks.

"Broadly speaking, vehicles with hypersonic air-breathing propulsion system offer various advantages such as rapid response at long range, increased maneuverability and better survivability," said Group Captain Lele.

SC to Centre: Why not ban 'disinfection'

New Delhi: The SC asked the Centre as to why it has not banned the use of tunnels for disinfecting people for Covid-19 despite taking stand that spraying of chemical disinfectants is physically and psychologically harmful. A bench was informed by SG that Health Ministry has not issued any guidelines.

'Critical care preparedness needs booster shot'

SUMI SUKANYA DUTTA @ New Delhi

AS Covid-19 cases continue growing unabated in India, scientists and researchers have called for a coordinated effort by public health organisations and the professional societies to ensure adequate delivery of intensive care to critically-ill coronavirus patients.

In a paper titled 'Challenges in the delivery of critical care in India during the Covid19 pandemic' published in the Journal of Intensive Care Society, researchers have highlighted the unprecedented demand that the infectious disease has placed on the healthcare system in the country.

India meanwhile reported the highest daily tally of 90,802 cases on Sunday which was more than the total cases reported from 9 other worst hit countries in the pandemic. Behind only the USA, in terms of the overall official cases, India is expected to overtake the USA next month if the spread of the disease remains the same.

As per government figures, the number of patients in ICU has hovered around 1.5%-2.5% of the active cases.

In the paper, authors have argued that even if less than 5% of patients require critical care services, this will still rapidly overwhelm the healthcare system in a country, where intensive care services and resources are scarce and unevenly distributed.

There is also a huge shortage of availability of beds having oxygen supply with one estimate putting it at 1,20,000 beds in the whole of the country. Demand for ventilators is also bound to increase and currently the number varies between 15,000 to 48,000.

"We also need more doctors and nurses with ICU training", the researchers have noted. the authors.

While the number of infected requiring ICU care is variable between countries, in India, Union government data suggest that around 2.5% of patients require intensive care, the paper says.

"This is likely an underestimate as several states have not reported the breakdown of illness severity," it notes. "Even if these numbers are staggered and assuming that 2.5% of patients would need critical care (125,000–375,000), this case-burden would overwhelm any healthcare system."

"Moreover, the pandemic is expected to persist for a longer duration, and given India's unique circumstances, the flattening of the curve will take longer," researchers have said.

"With the anticipated increase in case numbers, a coordinated effort by various public health organizations and the Indian Society of Critical Care Medicine will be crucial for ensuring adequate delivery of intensive care to critically ill Covid-19 patients."

PM MODI

'In NEP, focus is on learning, not on studying'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE focus now should be on 'learning' rather than 'studying' and the government should have minimal intervention in the education policy which 'belongs to everyone', Prime Minister Narendra Modi said on Monday.

He was speaking at the inaugural session of the Governors' Conference on the newly adopted National Education Policy.

"Education policy and education system are important means of fulfilling the aspirations of the country. Centre, state government, local bodies, all are attached to the responsibility of the education system," he said.

"But it is also true that the government, its interference in education policy, its impact, should be minimal. As foreign policy, defence policy are of the country, not government, so is education policy. It belongs to everyone,".

The PM also urged all stakeholders to take the "collective responsibility" to implement the policy in "letter and spirit".

In the new education policy, the first since 1986, the pressure on students for taking specific streams have been removed, he said. The PM also emphasised that the focus in the NEP is on "critical thinking rather than curriculum" with a special focus on 'passion, practicality, and performance'.

The new policy will help tackle the issues of brain drain and help India become a 'knowledge economy' in the 21st century, he told the conference.

Experts suspect cover-up in Kozhikode crash probe

KUMAR VIKRAM @ New Delhi

TWO aviation experts expressed apprehension of something being 'covered up' or 'concealed' in the Kozhikode air crash, saying that the black box was found without any damage and that the preliminary report should have come much earlier.

The civil aviation ministry is yet to come out with any preliminary investigation report even after one month of the air crash. Incidentally, the Aircraft Accident Investigation Bureau (AAIB) had said that it would take five months to submit its final findings.

Aviation safety expert Captain Mohan Rangnathan said that it should not take more than 15 days to come out with a preliminary investigation report. "The recorders were available without any damage. The ATC tape was also available immediately. They should have come out with the preliminary report in 15 days. They are taking so much time which means that they want to cover up," he claimed.

Rangnathan also raised questions on investigation reports by the AAIB. "If you look at the other reports that AAIB have been bringing out, the DFDR in final report should be in graphical form. Here, they are giving it in Table format which nobody can cross check. It is very obvious that they are not coming out with the truth."

Officials had recovered digital flight data recorder and cockpit voice recorder from the Air India plane that crashed in Kozhikode within a day of the accident on August 7. These devices were with the AAIB and subsequently sent to Delhi for further investigation.

Aviation expert Yeshwant Shenoy asserted that most countries release preliminary enquiry report within a week of such accidents. "It is a norm. Preliminary report is done to ensure that what was the cause. In this case, they got the Black Box without damage. How much time it would take to decode and come out with the preliminary enquiry? So, it clearly points out to one fact that they want to hide it. If they are taking one month time, it is unprofessional and incompetence."

Even though the civil aviation ministry had ordered an investigation by the AAIB, many aviation safety experts had raised questions on the move. They had suggested that there could be a conflict of interest and non-transparency in the probe as it operates under the supervision of the ministry itself. Experts had also said that in the past, there was a deliberate effort on the part of the investigators to cover up serious violations of air regulations.

Only 39 scribes can cover proceedings of Parliament

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Monsoon session of Parliament is bracing to function under pale focus of the media, with the Lok Sabha and Rajya Sabha secretariats substantially restricting the presence of the press person in the premises.

While a maximum of 24 media persons will get to cover the proceedings of the Lok Sabha on a day, only 15 of them would be permitted to report the functioning of the Rajya Sabha.

Other than 39 media persons on a day, none will be allowed anywhere on the campus of the Parliament. In contrast to the normal jostling of the photographers and camerapersons outside the main entry points of the Parliament and the two Houses, only the permitted press persons would be allowed, said a senior official of the Lok Sabha secretariat.

Sources also said that the two secretariats have not yet made any decision on the Covid-19 testing of the media persons, with the likelihood of them being asked to furnish negative reports on their own on the card, sources said.

"One media institution may get its turn to cover the proceedings of the Lok Sabha once in seven days as half of the permitted strength of the media will be reserved for the news agencies," said the official,

He added that only a dozen from the print and the television channels would get to cover the proceedings of the Lok Sabha due to the Covid-19 protocol being enforced.

With stage set for Ram mandir in Ayodhya, old temples demolished

'Sita-ki-Rasoi' among temples razed to clear way for machines to be ferried to Ram mandir

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

THE leveling of the area around Ram Janmabhoomi premises, necessary to enable heavy machines to reach the main temple site, has resulted in razing of several smaller dilapidated temples.

One of the significant temples demolished to clear the way for the machines to be ferried to the temple premises included over 300-year-old 'Sita-ki-Rasoi' (Sita's kitchen).

These facts have come to the fore in the interlude to the Ram temple construction activity because of the fortnight-long 'Pitra Paksha.' These activities would resume after Sept 17, according to Shri Ram Janmabhoomi Teerth Kshetra Trust's general secretary Champat Rai. Some of the heavy machines required for foundation-laying have started arriving in the temple town.

Other temples which were demolished included Sakshi Gopal, Kohbar Bhawan, Ram Khazana, Anand Bhawan and Manas Bhawan | FILE

Champat Rai, while referring to the smaller demolished temples, said these temples fell in disuse because of a prolonged legal battle. "The temple-structures grew so weak that it was dangerous to enter them," said Rai. To enable the machines to move forward towards the main site, it was necessary to remove the dilapidated temples, he said.

Besides the Sita-ki-Rasoi, the other temples which were demolished included Sakshi Gopal, Kohbar Bhawan, Ram Khazana, Anand Bhawan and Manas Bhawan. "However, the sanctums of all the demolished structures have been preserved to be reinstalled," said Mahant Kamal Nayan Das, the heir to Mahant Nritya Gopal Das.

Champat Rai said Larsen and Toubro would lay the foundation for the grand temple, which would come up in the 12,879-sq metre area on the Janmabhoomi premises. The company will carry out construction without charging any fee. The temple edifice would stand on around 1,200 pillars which would be placed 100 feet under the ground for the foundation. These pillars would consist of only stones. Trust sources said the raw material to be used in construction would be sourced from Bundelkhand forests where Lord Ram spent the maximum time of his 14-year exile.

A meeting of the UP police, Central Reserve Police Force (CRPF) and the state administration is likely on Tuesday to finalize the security blueprint for the Janmabhoomi complex during the construction.

Last week, the Ayodhya Development Authority had approved two layouts -- one for Ram temple and another of the entire Janmabhoomi campus.

Mob lynches man as cops stood helpless

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

AN angry mob caught hold of a man, who was fleeing after allegedly killing a teacher, and thrashed him to death in Kushinagar district in eastern Uttar Pradesh bordering Bihar on Monday morning.

The incident took place in Rampur Bangra area under the Taryasujan police station area around 8 am when the teacher was shot dead at his residence.

According to the police, after killing the teacher (identified as Sudhir Singh), the accused went to the terrace of the house and continued firing.

"Meanwhile, the police reached the spot but he continued firing and when they retaliated from the terrace of another house, he came down and tried to hide in a room," the police said.

"But the locals gathered there broke open door and lynched him in front of the police personnel." the police said, adding that by the time police could take him in custody, he had died.

Eyewitnesses said the attacker tried to surrender before the police, but he was soon attacked by the mob with sticks. Superintendent of Police Vinod Kumar Mishra said the case was being probed and strict action will be taken against the culprits. According to villagers, Singh was shot thrice while he was asleep and died on the spot.

Akhara Parishad vows to 'liberate' Kashi, Mathura

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

THE Akhil Bharatiya Akhara Parishad (ABAP), the apex body of 13 recognised orders of Sanatan Dharm in the country, on Monday decided to launch a campaign to 'free' the Kashi Vishwanath temple in Varanasi and the Krishna Janmabhoomi in Mathura..

The parishad decided to demand the liberation of Mathura and Kashi shrines on the lines of Ayodhya. At the meeting of the ABAP held in Prayagraj, the saints and sadhus said they were united to raise the issue of Kashi and Mathura, and sought support from the Vishwa Hindu Parishad(VHP) and other organisations in their campaign.

"The Akhara Parishad appeals Hindu organisations and also, every common man of the country, including Muslims, to extend voluntary support for liberating Kashi and Mathura. We wish the solution to these long-pending issues should be found amicably failing which ABAP would move to court," said ABAP president Mahant Narendra Giri.

The parishad decided that as the construction of Ram temple was set to commence in Ayodhya, a strategy should be chalked out to get Kashi and Mathura shrines liberated.

The seers issued an appeal to all the parties concerned to find an amicable solution to the issue.

Seeking support from right-wing organisations, including the Rashtriya Swayamsewak Sangh(RSS) and the Vishwa Hindu Parishad (VHP), the parishad decided to seek support from Hindus over the issue. "If we fail to achieve unanimity among various stakeholders, we will take a legal recourse, " said an ABAP source.

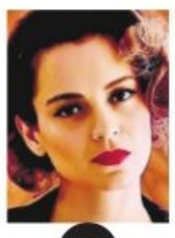
Centre provides Y-plus security to Kangana

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Centre decided to provide Y-plus category security cover to Bollywood actor Kangana Ranaut, days after she and Shiv Sena MP Sanjay Raut got into a spat with each other over law and order situation in Mumbai. The CRPF, deployed in internal security duties, will provide cover to Ranaut across the country, sources in the Union Ministry of Home Affairs said.



Had Amit Shah wanted, he would have told me to visit Mumbai later but he respected India's daughter and acknowledged my self-respect. Jai Hind

Kangana Ranaut, actor

Y category entails that the individual will be protected by 10-12 personnel round the clock. Senior officials at the CRPF said it was not clear if the actor will pay fees to the government like industrialist Mukesh Ambani does, who also has a CRPF security cover. A senior CRPF official also said that MHA's official communication on providing security cover to Ranaut is yet to be received by the paramilitary force. Ranaut thanked Home Minister Amit Shah for providing her with the security cover.

"This shows that no one can crush a patriot in the country. I am thankful to Home Minister Amit Shah. Had he (Amit Shah) wanted, he would have told me to visit Mumbai later but he respected India's daughter and acknowledged my self-respect. Jai Hind," Kangana tweeted.

The decision comes two days before Ranaut, who is in her home state Himachal Pradesh, said she plans to visit Mumbai on September 9.

A day ago, Himachal Pradesh Chief Minister Jairam Thakur had said his government decided to provide the actor security after her father and sister sought protection for her.

'Bengal's pro-farmer steps behind NCRB record'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Kolkata

THE West Bengal government claimed that the NCRB data showing no farming-related suicides in the last two years reflects the ground-level impact of development projects launched by CM Mamata Banerjee at a time when the entire country is reeling under agrarian distress.

"The state government is committed towards the overall socio-economic development of the families of all farmers," it said in a statement.

In fact, Transport Minister Sovandeb Chattopadhyay and many Trinamool Congress leaders have been highlighting the NCRB records that show no farmer suicide for two consecutive years in Bengal.

At least 10,281 persons involved in the farm sector died by suicide in 2019, accounting for 7.4% of the total number of suicides in the country. The figure for 2018 is 10,348. Maharashtra (3,927), Karnataka (1,992), Andhra Pradesh (1,029), Madhya Pradesh (541), Chhatishgarh (499) and Telengana (499) account for 83% of farmers' suicides reported last year.

The state government claimed that earning capacity of farmers in Bengal has increased three times in past eight years. "Farmers are getting bank loans without facing any hardship. We are providing them fertiliser, seeds and other facilities which are required to produce crops. Even in the Covid pandemic, more than 12 lakh farmers have received kisan credit cards in last three months," said an official of agriculture department.

But, the opposition BJP claimed that the West Bengal government use underarm tactics to cover up farm suicides. "They bracket all suicides in rural Bengal to some other problems of families of the victims. Other states, meanwhile, are honest in admitting in farming distress," said a senior BJP leader.

Punjab MPs get 'warning' over ordinance

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

FARMERS outfits in Punjab have warned that any MP from the state who either votes in favour of the Centre's three farm ordinances or abstains from voting would not be allowed to enter the northern state.

The ordinances are expected to be tabled in the forthcoming Monsoon session beginning September 14. In Delhi, 17 farmers' organisations will also be holding a protest against The Farmers (Empowerment and Protection) Agreement on Price Assurance and Farm Services Ordinance, The Essential Commodities (Amendment) Ordinance and The Farmers' Produce Trade and Commerce (Promotion and Facilitation) Ordinance.

"In our recent meeting, we have decided that any MP either from Lok Sabha or Rajya Sabha who votes in favour of these ordinances or abstains from voting, will not be allowed to enter the state. We will see how that MP can betray the state for personal gains. This kind of double standard is not tolerated," BKU (Rajewal Group), Punjab, president Balbir Singh Rajewal said.

"We suspect that the four MPs will vote on favour of these ordinances," he said.

Rhea files case against Sushant's sister over 'bogus' medical prescription

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

BOLLYWOOD actor Rhea Chakraborty, facing multiple investigations in the Sushant Singh Rajput death case, filed a police complaint on Monday against the actor's sister Priyanka Singh over a "bogus medical prescription" allegedly to enable the actor to access anxiety medication that cannot be prescribed electronically.

In her complaint with the Mumbai Police against Priyanka and Dr Tarun Kumar of Delhi's Ram Manohar Lohia Hospital, Rhea said: "Sushant died merely five days after obtaining the prescription in which he was unlawfully prescribed psychotropic substances. It is imperative that the actions of Priyanka Singh, Dr Tarun Kumar and others be investigated and that it be determined as to how they came to provide the deceased with such a bogus and unlawful prescription."

The actor also alleged that the forged prescription depicted Rajput as being at a Delhi Out Patient Department when, in fact, he was in Mumbai.

The complaint is based on WhatsApp texts between Rajput and his sister from June 8, six days before he was found dead in his Mumbai apartment. Rhea, who left Rajput's apartment the same day, claims the actor showed her the messages. Rhea alleged that Priyanka tried to dissuade him from taking medication not prescribed by his doctors, but Rajput "insisted" on only taking medicines "his sister was prescribing him".

"The deceased then proceeded to ask me to leave the house as his other sister Meethu Singh was coming to live with him and would take care of him. It was, thus, that I came to leave our residence and this was also the last time I saw the deceased alive," film actress said.

From the chat, it appears that Priyanka asked Rajput to take Librium and Lonazep for "whenever there is anxiety attack".

Meanwhile, on Monday, Rhea was questioned by the NCB for eight hours and will be called again for another round of questioning on Tuesday.

Cong accuses BJP of politicising actor's death before Bihar polls

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Congress on Monday accused the ruling BJP of politicising the death of actor Sushant Singh Rajput, terming it a new low in Indian politics.

Congress chief spokesperson Randeep Surjewala condemned the party and said Rajput's death was being politicised to deflect attention from the problems faced by the people in Bihar. "This is a new low in the new India of BJP and Prime Minister Narendra Modi," Surjewala said at a virtual press conference.

He alleged that Bihar was ravaged by floods and reeling under acute misery with the government having "abdicated its responsibility".

Congress leader in Lok Sabha Adhir Ranjan Chowdhury demanded that the CBI should conduct an impartial probe into the death of the actor, unmindful of the political implication of the case.

"Mr CBI and his masters, how many days will be required to unearth the mystery of the death of Sushant Singh Rajput, already media trial has been continuing in full swing which even can dwarf the judicial trial," he tweeted.

Alarmed EU warns Britain over reneging on Brexit deal

Trust between two sides may be evaporating after reports emerged of UK govt bill that would override pacts regarding N Ireland & state aid

BRUSSELS

THE European Union warned the British government on Monday that any attempt to renege on commitments made ahead of its departure from the bloc earlier this year could put at risk the hard-won peace in Northern Ireland.

The comments show growing signs that trust between the two sides is evaporating ahead of another round of Brexit trade talks Tuesday in London. Britain left the bloc on Jan 31 but the two sides are in a transition period that gets over at 2020's end and are negotiating their future trade ties.

The 27-nation bloc said any attempt by Britain's Conservative government to unilaterally ride roughshod over its divorce agreement with the EU could also jeopardize the prospects for a trade deal.

Ursula von der Leyen, president of the EU's Executive Commission, said she expects British PM Boris Johnson's government to implement the withdrawal agreement that paved the way for the UK's smooth departure exit. She tweeted that the agreement is an "obligation under international law" and a "prerequisite for any future partnership."

She added the section in the agreement that ensures an open border between Northern Ireland, which is part of the UK, and EU member Ireland, is "essential to protect peace and stability on the island."

Her comments followed a report in the Financial Times newspaper that the British government is planning domestic legislation that would effectively override the international treaty obligations enshrined in the Brexit withdrawal agreement, particularly over issues related to the Irish border.

Johnson has said Britain could walk away from the talks within weeks and insists that a no-deal exit would be a "good outcome for the UK" He said in a statement that any agreement must be sealed by an EU summit scheduled for Oct 15.

The EU has previously said negotiations must conclude before the end of October.

During this transition period, the UK remains within the EU's economic orbit, benefiting from frictionless and tariff-free trade. But British businesses are worried about the uncertainty of what happens to their trading ties with their biggest market beginning Jan.

Sterling sinks as Johnson raises again the spectre of chaotic no-deal Brexit

London: The British pound sank Monday after Prime Minister Boris Johnson appeared to revive investor fears of a no-deal Brexit, dealers said. Leading into the half-way point in London, sterling deepened losses to shed 1.0 percent versus the dollar. It was also down 0.8 percent against the European single currency. Johnson has given an October 15 deadline for a post-Brexit trade agreement with the European Union, brushing off fears about "no-deal" chaos if talks fail.

Navalny out of coma, is responsive: German docs

BERLIN

POISONED Russian opposition leader Alexei Navalny's condition has improved, allowing doctors to take him out of an induced coma, the German hospital treating him said on Monday.

Navalny, a fierce, high-profile critic of Russian President Vladimir Putin, was flown to Germany last month after falling ill on Aug. 20 on a domestic flight in Russia. German chemical weapons experts say tests show the 44-year-old was poisoned with a Soviet-era nerve agent, prompting the German government last week to demand that Russia investigate the case.

"The patient has been removed from his medically induced coma and is being weaned off mechanical ventilation," Berlin's Charite hospital said in a statement. "He is responding to verbal stimuli. It remains too early to gauge the potential long-term effects of his severe poisoning."

It added that the decision to publicly release details of his condition was made in consultation with Navalny's wife.

Navalny had been in an induced coma in the Berlin hospital since he was flown to Germany on Aug. 22 for treatment.

News of his gradual recovery came as German Chancellor Angela Merkel's office indicated that she might be willing to rethink the fate of a controversial German-Russian gas pipeline project — a sign of Berlin's growing frustration over Moscow's stonewalling about the Navalny case. AP

China refuses to renew press cards for US journalists

BEIJING

CHINA is delaying the renewal of press cards for at least five journalists working at four US media outlets, an organization of foreign correspondents said Monday, making them vulnerable to expulsion in apparent retribution for Washington's targeting of Chinese reporters working in the United States.

China's foreign ministry responded by saying applications for renewal were being processed and those reporters involved would not have their lives in China "affected in any way."

However, ministry spokesperson Zhao Lijian also accused the US of being "arrogant and unreasonable" in talks about the matter and "not addressing China's normal and reasonable concerns and demands at all."

"If the US government truly cares about American journalists, it should extend visas for all Chinese journalists as soon as possible, instead of taking journalists from the two countries as hostages for the certain politicians' political interests," Zhao told reporters.

Atlanta-based CNN said its China correspondent was among those given a letter authorizing him to continue reporting for the next two months instead of the usual one-year press card.

He was told the move was unrelated to his reporting but was merely a reciprocal measure in response to the actions of the Trump administration toward Chinese media, making it the latest manifestation of the deteriorating state of US-China relations that have fallen to their lowest level in decades.

The Wall Street Journal and Bloomberg have also been targeted. AP

Khashoggi's killers escape execution in final verdicts

DUBAI

A Saudi court issued final verdicts on Monday in the case of slain Washington Post columnist and Saudi critic Jamal Khashoggi after his son, who still resides in the kingdom, announced pardons that spared five of the convicted individuals from execution.

While the trial draws to its conclusion in Saudi Arabia, the case continues to cast a shadow over the reputation of Crown Prince Mohammed bin Salman, whose associates have been sanctioned by the US and the U.K. for their alleged involvement in the brutal killing, which took place inside the Saudi consulate in Istanbul.

The Riyadh Criminal Court's final verdicts were announced by Saudi Arabia's state television, which aired few details about the eight Saudi nationals and did not name them. The court ordered a maximum sentence of 20 years in prison for the five. Another individual received a 10-year sentence, and two others were ordered to serve seven years in prison.

A team of 15 Saudi agents had flown to Turkey to meet Khashoggi inside the consulate for his appointment on Oct. 2, 2018 to pick up documents that would allow him to marry his Turkish fiance, who waited outside. The team included a forensic doctor, intelligence and security officers, and individuals who worked directly for the crown prince's office, according to Agnes Callamard, who investigated the killing for the United Nations.

Turkish officials allege Khashoggi was killed and then dismembered with a bone saw inside the consulate.

The Saudi verdicts came after the kingdom tried 11 people in total in December, sentencing five to death and ordering three others to lengthy prison terms for covering up the crime. For those five men, Khashoggi's son said in May he had forgiven the killers, paving the way for less harsh punishment under Islamic law. Agencies

PAKISTAN

Authorities to begin reopening schools from September 15

Education officials in Pakistan say authorities will start reopening schools from Sept. 15 amid a steady decline in coronavirus deaths and infections. Schools were closed in March when the government enforced a nationwide lockdown to contain the spread of coronavirus. Authorities lifted curbs on most of the businesses in May, but schools remained closed across the country. Officials said schools will reopen in Punjab and Sindh provinces from Sept. 15 and a formal announcement about opening of schools elsewhere was expected later Monday. On Sunday, Pakistan reported three new deaths from Covid-19 in the past 24 hours, one of the lowest number of daily fatalities in more five months. Pakistan has reported 298,903 infections and 6,345 deaths since the pandemic began.

THAILAND

2 leaders of pro-democracy protests released from jail

Two top leaders of Thailand's pro-democracy protest movement were released from jail on Monday after police agreed that they no longer needed to be detained for investigation. Bangkok Criminal Court last Thursday ordered Arnon Nampha and Panupong Jadnok to be held in Bangkok Remand Prison at the request of police, who arrested them for allegedly violating the terms under which they had been previously freed on bail. The two men had been granted bail last month on charges including sedition arising from a protest rally in Bangkok in July.

INDONESIA

Nearly 300 Rohingya reach Aceh after seven months at sea

Nearly 300 Rohingya migrants reached Indonesia on Monday claiming to have been at sea for seven months, the United Nations refugee agency said, in one of the biggest such landings by the persecuted Myanmar minority in years. The migrants -- including more than a dozen children -- were spotted on a wooden boat by locals who helped them land near Lhokseumawe city on Sumatra's northern coast. But as many as 30 may have died during the perilous high-seas voyage, the UN said, adding that the group left from Cox's Bazar in Bangladesh in Feb. Around one million Muslim Rohingya live in refugee camps in Bangladesh where human traffickers run lucrative operations promising to find them sanctuary abroad. Muslim-majority Indonesia and neighbouring Malaysia are favoured destinations for the minority group.

PAK CITES COVID-19 TO DUCK $5.8 BN FINE

ISLAMABAD

PAKISTAN is seeking the reversal of a $5.8 billion penalty imposed by an international tribunal for denying a mining lease to an Australian company, saying that paying the fine would hinder its handling of the coronavirus pandemic.

The Reko Diq district in southwestern Pakistan's Baluchistan province is famed for its mineral wealth, including gold and copper. Imran Khan's government considers it a strategic national asset, though instead of yielding a bonanza the Reko Diq mining project may cost the country dearly.

The World Bank's International Center for Settlement of Investment Disputes is considering Pakistan's appeal against enforcing the penalty over its cancellation of the Reko Diq mining lease for Tethyan Copper Corp., a 50-50 joint venture of Barrick Gold Corp. of Australia and Antofagasto of Chile.

Local officials visit the gold and copper mine site in Reko Diq district | AP

In the meantime, the Baluchistan government has set up its own company to develop the mine: As prices for commodities surge, with gold recently at more than $2,000 an ounce, turning fiasco to fortune is all the more appealing.

Pakistan getting mugged?

Economist Jeffrey Sachs described the fine of $5.8 billion as a "mugging" of Pakistan. Other experts also have questioned the reasoning behind huge award, which is more than double the size of the largest similar arbitration award, in the case between Dow Chemical and Kuwait Petrochemical Corp.

Documents explaining the award suggest one intention was to penalise Pakistan for having violated its investment treaty with Australia.

Mahfooz Ali Khan, who retired as finance secretary in Baluchistan province, told the AP the regional government cancelled the project after it found rules had been violated. AP

British judge rejects request to delay Julian Assange's extradition hearing

LONDON

A British judge on Monday rejected a request by lawyers for WikiLeaks founder Julian Assange to delay his extradition hearing until next year to give his lawyers more time to respond to US allegations that he conspired with hackers to obtain classified information.

The adjournment request came on the first day of a London court hearing where Assange is fighting American prosecutors' attempt to send him to the US to stand trial on spying charges.

US prosecutors have indicted the 49-year-old Australian on 18 espionage and computer misuse charges over WikiLeaks' publication of secret US military documents a decade ago. The charges carry a maximum sentence of 175 years in prison.

Assange's lawyers say the prosecution is a politically motivated abuse of power that will stifle press freedom and put journalists around the world at risk.

Stella Moris, the partner of Julian Assange, leaves the Old Bailey court in London on Monday. On the right, a demonstrator holds a poster of Assange | AFP

The US Justice Department expanded its case against Assange in a new indictment announced in June, though it did not introduce new charges. But Assange attorney Mark Summers said it was "an impossible task" for the legal team to deal with the new allegations in time for Monday's court hearing, especially since they had only "limited access" to the imprisoned Assange.

He said District Judge Vanessa Baraitser should excise the new American claims, which he said were sprung on the defense "out of the blue."

The judge said no, saying she had offered the defense the chance in August to postpone the hearing, and "they declined to do so." The defense then asked for the case to be adjourned until January. Baraitser refused, saying Assange's lawyers had had "ample time" before Monday to make the request.

The case has already been held up for months because of the coronavirus pandemic. AP

SOME FAST FACTS

1. Considering the typical nature of the real estate projects, a RBI-appointed committee, headed by banker KV Kamath suggested that the parameters need to be considered at project level rather than at entity level
2. The targeted current ratio for the airline industry is kept at 0.40 and above because of its cash and carry model and higher current liabilities in form of advance received from customers, the committee said
3. For automobile manufacturing, it has not prescribed any threshold for current ratio due to the "just in time inventory" business model for raw materials, parts and finished goods being funded by channel financing
4. In the roads sector, the financing is cash flow based and at SPV-level where the level of debt is decided at the time of initial project appraisal and ratios like debt/EBITDA and current ratio may not be relevant
5. Debt Service Coverage Ratio (DSCR)/ Avg. DSCR is not ascertainable for trading business as most of these companies do not use long term debt for funding their operations and are unlisted

Experts, however, said that the extent of relief will depend on how banks read the fine print

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

SECTORS like auto, hospitality, realty and aviation, which were reeling under severe financial stress got some relief as the KV Kamath-led committee gave its recommendation for loan structuring for pandemic-hit sectors on Monday. In its report, the committee has identified 26 sectors, including power, construction, steel, retail and real estate that need relief.

In order to identify weak companies to be picked by the lenders, the committee has uniformly proposed thresholds for current ratio, DSCR (Debt Service Coverage Ratio) and ADSCR (Average Debt Service Coverage Ratio) in most of the sectors. The borrowers eligible under the current framework are standard accounts.

Analysts have welcomed the timely release of the resolution by the committee and lauded it to to come up with a scheme which is not based on one size fit all. "What is significant is that the approach is differentiated across sectors. It is not a case of one size fits all, which would have skewed the picture," Madan Sabnavis, chief economist at Care Ratings said.

What is significant (in the resolution plan) is that the approach is differentiated across sectors. It is not a case of one size fits all, which would have skewed the picture

Madan Sabnavis, chief economist, Care Ratings

As it is likely to give immediate relief to the sectors, experts added that that it is yet to be seen how many companies get relief under the scheme as the central bank has also allowed banks to consider more parameters than specified by the committee in its report.

"It still leaves large decision to banks, how they plan to package the restructuring. So this is too early to say how many companies can avail the scheme," a senior banker told.

Also finer points for the sector has to be considered. For the real estate sector, for instance, it said the relief will come at the project level and not at the company level. This will leave out many companies with poor pre-covid records.

For road and airlines also the devil will be in details. In the roads sector, the panel said the financing is cash flow-based and at SPV (special purpose vehicle) levels where the level of debt is decided at the time of initial project appraisal.

Similarly, for the crisis-hit airline sector, the targeted current ratio has been kept low as the airlines operate on a cash and carry model for revenue purpose, thereby creating almost nil debtors and higher current liabilities in form of advance received from customers.

Govt, RBI coordination must to combat Covid-19, says SBI

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

NOTING that the past thirty years have seen a statistically significant negative correlation between the policies of the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) and the central government, a report from SBI Research on Monday said that such coordination would be vital to contain and recovery from the current economic crisis. According to the report authored by Soumya Kanti Ghosh, Group Chief Economic Adviser, State Bank of India, with the economy ravaged by pandemic, the government is "very much wary of a fiscal splurge".

"The RBI has been largely successful in communicating to the market about its intentions and seems to have managed the art of managing expectations much better. In fact, RBI Governor has politely conveyed the message of steadfast resolve of monetary policy support through crisp one liners, the effectiveness of what was discussed in Jackson Hole meeting in Aug'20!," said the report, adding that the underlying message was that central banks should be constructively imprecise, rather than being detailed.

"We now expect the government to manage expectations with a coordinated communication and leave matters of financing the fiscal deficit through specific measures like monetisation to RBI," the report further added.

The bank had arrived at this conclusion through an application of economic game theory. "We assume that both the government and RBI have 2 options between them, either a contraction or an expansion. Subsequently, we construct the payoff matrix, where the payoffs are hypothesized as benefits accruing to the government and RBI separately when they are deciding on either of the policy options: contraction and expansion," it explained. According to Ghosh, the government must complement RBI in terms of a coordinated inequilibrium strategy by adopting simultaneously an expansionary monetary and fiscal policy.

SBI slaps fresh notice on BPSL promoter

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

PUBLIC sector lender State Bank of India (SBI) has issued fresh notices to Bhushan Power and Steel Limited's (BPSL) promoter Sanjay Singal, seeking to invoke his personal guarantee for ₹12,276 crore of loan defaults by the bankrupt company since 2017.

The notice was issued on August 31, under the Indian Contract Act 1872 and other applicable provisions relating to the liability of the guarantor. In the notice, SBI further added if he (Singal) believes that the debt has been repaid before the receipt of the notice, he is required to furnish relevant documents demonstrating such repayment within 14 days.

Meanwhile, the beleaguered firm's debt resolution is almost ready as SBI had already filed an insolvency case against BPSL in July, 2017 and JSW Steel has been identified as the highest bidder for BPSL under the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code-led resolution, with an offer of ₹19,700 crore. The company has a debt of over ₹48,000 crore to a consortium of 31 lenders including SBI, and Punjab National Bank.

However, the matter is pending before the Supreme Court as Singhal has moved the apex court against the National Company of Law Appellate (NCLAT) order, while JSW Steel wanted immunity on the investigations being done by Enforcement Directorate (ED), CBI and Serious Fraud Investigation Office. In October 2019, the ED attached assets worth over ₹4,025 crore of BPSL in connection with its money laundering probe linked to an alleged bank loan fraud by the company's former promoters.

Last Friday, the apex court, however, gave another two weeks to both the ED and BPSL promoter Singal to make their final submissions. On the other hand, JSW Steel has urged the SC to pronounce its final judgement in this case as it has been waiting for over three years now.

ED arrests Deepak Kochhar in money laundering case

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE Enforcement Directorate on Monday arrested Deepak Kochhar, the husband of former ICICI Bank CEO Chanda Kochhar, in connection to the Videocon-ICICI Bank money laundering case. Kochhar was arrested by the investigative agency in Mumbai under sections of the Prevention of Money Laundering Act (PMLA). The ED had already attached properties worth ₹78 crore "in possession of" Deepak Kochhar and the companies owned and controlled by him and his wife earlier this year.

In January last year, the CBI had registered an FIR detailing alleged cheating and criminal conspiracy under sections of the Prevention of Corruption Act against Chanda Kochhar, her husband Deepak Kochhar, and Videocon Group promoter Venugopal Dhoot. The companies named in the FIR include Dhoot's Videocon International Electronics Ltd (VIEL), Videocon Industries Limited (VIL), and Supreme Energy; and Deepak Kochhar's Nupower Renewable.

The FIR was followed by detailed investigations by central agencies into irregularities in loans offered by ICICI Bank, when Chanda Kochhar was heading the bank, to Dhoot's Videocon group. It has been alleged that Dhoot had invested in Nupower through his firm Supreme Energy as a quid pro quo for loans given by ICICI Bank to Videocon. Both Kochhars have denied involvement.

Delhi HC orders SpiceJet to deposit ₹242.9 cr within six weeks

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE Delhi High Court has ordered SpiceJet to deposit ₹242.93 crore within six weeks to former promoter Kalanithi Maran of Sun Group, and his KAL Airways.

The case relates to the dispute arising out of non-issuance of warrants and preference shares in favour of Maran, who had transferred the ownership of SpiceJet in 2015 to Ajay Singh, the current promoter and co-founder of the Delhi-based low-cost airline.

The aforesaid amount is the interest payout on ₹579 crore which the High Court in 2017 had asked SpiceJet to deposit. SpiceJet's current promoter Ajay Singh had deposited the amount.

The fresh blow for SpiceJet and Singh comes at a time when the entire aviation industry is hit hard by the global Covid-19 pandemic.

A failure to comply with the order would allow Maran to seek status quo on the company's shareholding. This means SpiceJet won't be able raise new capital from the market through issuance of fresh shares or stake sale. "Judgement Debtor (in this case SpiceJet and promoter Ajay Singh) is hereby directed to deposit a sum of ₹242.93 crore as post-award interest sum within a period of six weeks. In the event the amount is not deposited, the Decree Holder (in this case Kalanithi Maran and his firm KAL Airways) shall be at liberty to seek directions to maintain status quo with respect to shareholding of SpiceJet Limited and Ajay Singh," the Delhi HC said in a order. When contacted, a SpiceJet spokesperson said that the company is reviewing the Court order.

Maran and KAL Airways had transferred their 58.46 per cent stake in SpiceJet to Singh for ₹2 in February 2015, after the airline's operations were upended by a severe cash shortage. Under the agreement, KAL Airways and Maran were to receive redeemable warrants and preference share in return for the ₹679 crore which they spent on SpiceJet. In 2017, Maran approached Delhi HC and claimed that neither the convertible warrants and preference shares were issued nor the money was returned.

Badminton camp in muddle

Quarantine protocol could jeopardise selection process for Thomas and Uber Cup

FLIPSIDE

INDRANEEL DAS

In these days of Covid-19 nothing can be considered certain. There's always that feeling of anxiety and uncertainty. No matter what the event is or where it will be held. Unless held, nothing is for sure. That perhaps aptly describes the state of the national camp for shuttlers that was supposed to begin on Monday. It is learnt that the camp to be held at the SAI-Gopichand Badminton Academy is yet to begin. The training camp also doubles up as selection trials for Thomas and Uber Cup to be held in Denmark next month.

Apparently, the reason for this delay is because of confusion over quarantine protocols as directed by Sports Authority of India's SOP, which mandates athletes coming to join the camp spend time in quarantine. According to a SAI release, "all players, coaches and support staff will have to undergo mandatory RT-PCR test for Covid-19 before they travel to Hyderabad and would only be allowed in the academy, once they produce Covid-19 negative certificates. Once they are at the academy they will be isolated and tested again on the 6th day of the quarantine and would only be allowed on the field of play after they have cleared the second round of Covid-19 test."

This means the players will have to spend eight-ten days in quarantine. This caused consternation among badminton officials who immediately asked players to not risk travel until this issue is sorted. On short notice, the camp was called. In a shorter time frame players were asked to stay put. But that did not prevent four shuttlers to reach the centre.

According to BAI officials, a meeting has been slated for Tuesday wherein all stakeholders will discuss issues related to the camp and selection. If officials are to be believed, the camp was called after a few meetings between SAI and BAI. How the quarantine rule got lost, no one seems to have an idea.

The way things stand the intriguing part seems to be selections. If the players spend eight-ten days in quarantine as per rule, then there will hardly be any time for conducting trials on September 17, as BAI wanted, and that would render the training camp redundant. Last date for submission of names to Badminton World Federation (BWF) is on September 18. And if it is a preparatory camp then there was no need to call so many shuttlers because only 20 (10 each in men's and women's) are allowed in a team. Officials are also worried about the selection process. There were no events for more than five months. If they do resort to selection on the basis of ranking because of the quarantine rules (which everyone must follow), then the camp could have been for selected players. Players from Hyderabad, including PV Sindhu and outstation player Kidambi Srikanth have already started training since early last month.

The players are expected to leave for Denmark on September 27 and will undergo mandatory tests on arrival before quarantining themselves for two days in the hotel. But the first task is to get the camp up and running.

SINDHU MAKES U-TURN, SET TO JOIN TEAM FOR PRESTIGIOUS TOURNAMENT

In a big boost for India, world champ PV Sindhu has made a u-turn on her decision on not being available for the Thomas & Uber Cup. Sindhu had a change of heart after Himanta Biswa Sarma, BAI president, requested her to join the team. "I have requested @Pvsindhu1 to join the team as we have a favourable draw and have the best chance to take a shot at a medal at the #ThomasUberCup. She has agreed and will prepone her family function so that she can be part of the Indian Team and play for the country @BAI_Media," Sarma wrote on Twitter. Sindhu had earlier said that she won't be able to travel because of family commitments next month. The Thomas & Uber Cup is scheduled to be held in Denmark from October 3 to 11. The women's team has been clubbed with 14-time winners China, France and Germany while the men's side has been placed alongside Denmark, Germany and Algeria in the draw.

Thailand pull out

Thailand's men's and women's teams have pulled out of the Thomas and Uber Cup. According to the BWF, the Thailand association cited Covid-19 concerns and injuries to some of its key players for reasons behind the move.

Costly mistake by Djokovic

World No 1 was kicked out of the US Open for accidentally hitting a line judge in the throat with a tennis ball after dropping a game in his fourth-round match on Sunday, bringing a stunning end to his 29-match winning streak and bid for an 18th Grand Slam title. A look how this episode unfolded...

The incident

As he walked to the stadium sideline for a changeover, trailing Pablo Carreno Busta 6-5 in the first set, Djokovic angrily smacked a ball behind him. The ball flew right at the line judge, who dropped to her knees at the back of the court.

What the rule book says

*Players shall not violently, dangerously or with anger hit, kick or throw a tennis ball within the precincts of the tournament site except in the reasonable pursuit of a point during a match (including warm-up).

*Violation of this section shall subject a player to fine up to $20,000 for each violation. In addition, if such violation occurs during a match (including the warm-up) the player shall be penalised in accordance with the Point Penalty Schedule hereinafter set forth.

*For the purposes of this rule, abuse of balls is defined as intentionally hitting a ball out of the enclosure of the court, hitting a ball dangerously or recklessly within the court or hitting a ball with negligent disregard of the consequences.

What the referee said

Tournament referee Soeren Friemel said even if Djokovic didn't intend to hurt the line judge, she was hurt, and that was enough to merit the ruling. After about 10 minutes of discussion, chair empire Aurelie Tourte announced that the World No 1 was defaulted.

Consequence: Djokovic forfeits the ranking points and $250,000 in prize money he earned in the tournament.

WFI to name replacements after wrestlers' consent now

FIROZ MIRZA @Chennai

WITH four wrestlers testing positive for Covid-19 after reaching SAI centre in Sonepat, the Wrestling Federation of India (WFI) is struggling to find replacements for those who skipped the camp for varied reasons. Given the reluctance especially after the Covid-19 scare at the centre, the federation has decided to name replacements only after the wrestlers give their consent.

"We don't want to name a wrestler only to find that he is unwilling to join. We have decided to speak to the probable candidates and take their consent before asking them to join," a source closely associated with the camp said.

While most of the wrestlers named for the camp including Tokyo-bound Bajrang Punia (65kg) reached the venue on September 1, a few — both in freestyle and Greco-Roman categories — didn't turn up citing different reasons. Even Ravi Dahiya (57kg), who had qualified for the Olympics, reached the centre but applied for leave for a week saying he wants to appear in final year examinations.

"Almost all elite wrestlers are here so it's not an issue. We only need sparring partners now. We can even call an U-23 wrestler for the camp if he agrees," added the source.

Rahul Aware, who tested positive on Sunday and was shifted to a SAI empanelled hospital, is symptomatic. "I have fever, cold and cough," he said. The Arjuna Award winner had tested negative ahead of the rehearsal a couple of days before the awards function in Pune.

DISCOVERY

November 2019

The find was made by Israel Antiquities Authority (IAA) archaeologist Yaakov Billig in preliminary works for construction of a visitor centre on the Armon Hanatziv promenade, which lies a few kilometres south of Jerusalem's Old City

DESIGN

The two blocks of stones have almost perfectly preserved proto-Aeolic carvings reminiscent of spiralling ram horns

The artefacts belong to the Aeolic order, an earlier form of classical architecture developed from Phoenician styles

EXFILE

STONES SHOW JERUSALEM'S PAST

Last week Israeli archaeologists unveiled unique 2,700-year-old stone carvings indicating a rebound in prosperity in the Kingdom of Judah following the near destruction of ancient Jerusalem. The holy city is important to three largest monotheistic religions: Judaism, Islam and Christianity. We take a look

WIDTH 50 CM | MATERIAL LIMESTONE

Officials unveiled the column capitals – that are estimated to date from around 701 BCE – in Jerusalem last week | AFP

WHAT WERE THEY USED FOR?

The items known as capitals are believed to have topped pillars in the courtyard of a building that was completely destroyed

ROYALIST ESTATE

The "medium-sized" models from Armon Hanatziv are the first of their size to be found, said researchers

Smaller capitals that were part of window sills were also found at the site

Experts presume the area may have been a 'royalist estate' or a palace of a wealthy individual

The designs of the capitals are typical of the First Temple era and are a symbol representing the kingdoms of Judah and Israel

The design is also imprinted on Israel's contemporary five-shekel coin

WHEN WAS IT BUILT?

The palace was probably built between the reigns of King Hezekiah and King Josiah, in the period when Jerusalem was recuperating after the Assyrian siege in 701 BCE

TIMELINE OF JERUSALEM TILL ROMAN DESTRUCTION

4500-3500 BCE – First settlement of Jerusalem appears near the Gihon Spring

1000 BCE – King David conquers Jerusalem and makes it the capital of the Jewish kingdom

586 BCE – Babylonians occupy the city and destroy the Temple. Jews sent into exile

539 BCE – King Cyrus the Great defeats the Babylonians and Jerusalem becomes part of the Achaemenid Empire

516 BCE – The Second Temple is built during the reign of King Darius

332 BCE – Alexander the Great takes control of the holy city

63 BCE – Jerusalem comes under the Roman Republic

37 BCE – King Herod restructures the second Temple and adds retaining walls

70 CE – The Romans destroy the second Temple

NEUTRALISE THE VIRUS

NEW YORK: Deep sleep early in life, and plenty of it, may defend you against Alzheimer's that is a progressive brain disease and for which no treatment currently exists.

The brain washes itself during deep sleep, so there may be the chance to turn back the clock by getting more deep, restorative sleep earlier in life, say researchers from the University of California-Berkeley.

"We have found that the sleep you're having right now is almost like a crystal ball telling you when and how fast Alzheimer's pathology will develop in your brain," said neuroscientist Matthew Walker, professor of psychology and neuroscience at UC Berkeley. "The silver lining here is that there's something we can do about it," he added in Current Biology.

Quake strikes Indonesia

SEISMIC SHAKE

An earthquake measuring 6.7 on the Richter scale struck Indonesia's North Sulawesi province, but did not trigger a tsunami, the country's meteorology and geophysics agency said. UNICEF to head supply of Covid-19 vaccines

UN body to procure the doses on behalf of the COVAX Facility for 92 low- and lower middle-income countries

LEADING THE WAY

UNITED NATIONS: In what could possibly be the world's largest and fastest ever operation of its kind, UNICEF has announced that it will be leading the procurement and supply of coronavirus vaccines to ensure that all countries have safe, fast and equitable access to initial doses when they are available.

The United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF) is the world's largest single vaccine buyer, procuring more than 2 billion doses of various vaccines annually for routine immunisation and outbreak response on behalf of nearly 100 countries. With several vaccine candidates showing promise, the UN agency, in collaboration with the Revolving Fund of the Pan American Health Organization (PAHO), will lead efforts to procure and supply doses of Covid-19 vaccines on behalf of the COVAX Global Vaccines Facility for 92 low and lower middle-income countries, whose vaccine purchases will be supported by the mechanism.

"We are ready for an immense new challenge: to lead the global supply of Covid-19 vaccines and help end the worst stage of this pandemic," UNICEF tweeted on Saturday.

"UNICEF is the world's largest single buyer of vaccines for diseases like measles and polio, procuring over 2 billion doses on behalf of nearly 100 countries each year. Thanks to our supporters, we now have the experience and expertise to deliver a Covid-19 vaccine to the world," it said.

UNICEF will also serve as procurement coordinator to support purchases by 80 higher-income economies, which have expressed their intent to participate in the COVAX Facility and would finance the vaccines from their own budgets, the agency said.

China parades its potential candidate

China has put its homegrown coronavirus vaccines on display for the first time. High hopes hang on the small vials of liquid on show at a Beijing trade fair this week — vaccine candidates produced by Chinese companies Sinovac Biotech and Sinopharm. Neither has hit the market yet but the makers hope they will be approved after all-important phase 3 trials as early as year-end

The vaccine procurement and distribution effort, involving over 170 economies, has the potential to become the world's largest and fastest ever operation of its kind.

"This is an all-hands on deck partnership between governments, manufacturers and multilateral partners to continue the high-stakes fight against the Covid-19 pandemic," UNICEF executive director Henrietta Fore said.

UNICEF will undertake these efforts in close collaboration with the World Health Organization, Gavi the Vaccine Alliance, Coalition for Epidemic Preparedness Innovations, PAHO, the World Bank, the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation, and other partners. The COVAX Facility is open to all countries to ensure that no country is left without access to a future Covid-19 vaccine.

About 28 manufacturers have shared their annual production plans for Covid-19 vaccines — through 2023 — with UNICEF, which said in a market assessment that the drug makers were willing to collectively produce "unprecedented quantities" of vaccines over the coming 1-2 years.

The COVAX Global Vaccines Facility is the vaccine pillar of the ACT-Accelerator, an initiative launched in April to speed up development of medicines to treat Covid-19 and make them available to people everywhere. It is operated by Gavi, the Vaccine Alliance; CEPI, and WHO, alongside multinational and developing country vaccine manufacturers.

The facility works to ensure as many countries as possible cooperate to pool development, procurement and allocation of any Covid-19 vaccines.

China lands 1st reusable spacecraft after 2-day trip

SECRETIVE PROGRAMME

BEIJING: China's first reusable spacecraft landed Sunday after two days in orbit, a possible step toward lower-cost space flight, the government announced.

The secretive, military-run space programme has released few details of the craft, which was launched on Friday aboard a Long March 2F rocket from the Jiuquan Satellite Launch Center in China's desert northwest.

The craft landed as planned at Jiuquan, the official Xinhua News Agency said. State media have yet to publish any photos. The craft's size and shape are unclear. The flight "marks an important breakthrough in our country's research on reusable spacecraft" that promise a "more convenient and inexpensive way" to reach space, Xinhua said.

China fired its first astronaut into orbit in 2003 and has launched a space station. Last year, it became the first country to land a robot rover on the moon's little-seen far side.

A probe carrying another robot rover is en route to Mars. The United States and the former Soviet Union both flew reusable spacecraft.

The US space shuttle flew 134 missions from the 1980s until 2011. Since then, the US military has developed the X-37, a robot glider that made its sixth flight in May. The Soviet space plane, Buran, orbited the Earth twice during its single uncrewed flight in 1988.

FRENCH TREASURE

Notre-Dame crypt reopens with exhibition dedicated to those behind its resurrection

MOVING AHEAD

PARIS: The archeological crypt of Notre-Dame reopens on Wednesday with an exhibition retracing the cathedral's turbulent history nearly 18 months after it was ravaged by fire.

The April 2019 blaze toppled the spire of the cathedral and destroyed much of the roof of what is one of France's most cherished national treasures.

The crypt, situated below the square in front of the cathedral and containing the remains of fortifications and thermal baths, had to be cleaned of lead dust, an arduous job that took more than a year before visitors could be allowed back in.

The exhibition pays homage to French writer Victor Hugo and the architect Eugene Viollet-Le-Duc, the two men behind the resurrection of the cathedral in the 19th century.

Hugo's novel The Hunchback of Notre-Dame, published in 1831, was instrumental in winning public backing for the restoration of the monument which had been left in a state of abandon and decay.

"The exhibition starts with how the cathedral looked at the time the novel was published," said Vincent Gille, a curator at the Victor Hugo museum in Paris.

"It was a frightfully forbidding and dangerous building which bore no resemblance to a radiant and shining cathedral," he said, pointing to several of Hugo's sketches as evidence.

The exhibition consists mostly of photographs, drawings, paintings and film excerpts illustrating the world's fascination with the cathedral, from the beginnings to the animated feature films of today.

Notre-Dame was badly damaged by vandalism in the early 19th century, and indifferent city authorities were planning to tear it down when Hugo called for "War against the Demolishers" in a pamphlet published in 1825.

"There is perhaps not a single city in France today that is not thinking about, beginning, or completing the destruction of some national monument," he wrote.

After the publication of Hunchback, the exhibition shows, the public swung behind the idea that Notre-Dame was worth saving and gave crucial support to Viollet-le-Duc's work on the cathedral between 1844 and 1864, which laid the foundations for the national monument status it enjoys today.

The inspiration for some features, such as the malevolent chimeras overlooking Paris, came directly from Hugo's novel, which also, eerily, contained the description of a devastating fire.

Organisers see the exhibition as the first step towards a return to normality for the crypt's museum, which before the fire welcomed some 1,70,000 visitors a year.

"The project started very soon after the fire and was motivated by the wish to honour the cathedral," curator Anne de Mondenard told AFP.

Work on Notre-Dame's reconstruction after last year's fire has been plagued by delays due to bad weather, concerns over lead pollution, and most recently the coronavirus pandemic.

Sonu Sood

Do you remember how Bollywood actor Sonu Sood stepped in to help a farmer's family when the photo of two girls ploughing their field went viral? The incident touched city-based actor Yethiraj so much that he has made a short film on his act of kindness. The film, titled Devadootha, was released on YouTube on Sept. 4.

According to Yethiraj, it takes a strong willpower for a man of such stature as Sonu Sood to go out of his way to help people in need. "It is commendable. Sonu Sood decided to leave the comfort of his home to step out on the streets to help people from different quarters. He did the things that the government or any organisation could not do," says the 45-year-old actor. Yethiraj recreated the real-life incident wherein the Hindi film star helped a farmer named Nageswara Rao and his family by giving them a tractor. "This particular incident really inspired me. The picture of Nageswara Rao along with his wife and two daughters ploughing their field in Chittoor district in Andhra Pradesh, went viral. Everyone saw it, but it was only Sonu Sood who decided to help them," says Yethiraj, who wishes to meet the Bollywood actor in person some day.

The 25-minute movie has Yethiraj playing the part of Nageswara Rao. For the other roles, he held auditions and finalised three newcomers – Chandana, Namitha and Yeshitha. "After I selected the actors, I held a two-day workshop with them," says Yethiraj. The movie, which took him two days to shoot and five days for post-production, has got over 2,000 views in the four days since its release.

Yethiraj

Talking about the past few months, which have been tough for Sandalwood, Yethiraj says he did not let any negativity pull him down, and decided to take up making short films and posting them on his YouTube channel named Kalaavidha. Till now, he has made nine short films and all of them have been recreated. "I don't want to take anyone's footage. All the short films have been directed by me," says Yethiraj, who has directed a movie called Poorna Sathya, which is currently streaming on Amazon Prime.

The actor-director, who has acted in over 25 teleserials and 153 movies across Kannada and Tamil film industries, now cannot wait to get back to work. "The lockdown has been lifted, but work is yet to come up. I hope new avenues open soon," he adds.

Here's why preserving and promoting the traditional textiles of India must be handled as a priority

Prasad Bidapa

If you were to count the greatest of art and cultural development in the sub-continent over the last few centuries, what would you choose to list? The sublime architecture and carvings of temples all over India? Classical dance and music? Literature? Craft forms in metal, stone or terracotta? You could add so many more, but for me, it's the textile arts of India which prove our ancient lineage and tell the glorious story of our ancient civilisation.

India was famed for its textiles and exported its products all over the world, making us one of the richest economies in ancient times. Not just weaving, but our famed dyeing and printing techniques can be traced back millennia; for example, our Ajrakh block printing were found even in ancient Mohenjo-daro. The Roman empire loved Indian silk, and we were the fulcrum of the famed silk route.

All over India, the development of sari weaving has resulted in fabulous varieties that are treasured as part of our heritage. In South India, you will find the richly embellished Kanchipuram and Dharmavaram of Tamil Nadu, the Mulkal Muru of Karnataka, the Kasavu of Kerala, and the myriad weaves of Telangana and Andhra Pradesh. The Paithani of Maharashtra and the historic woven treasures of Banaras are superb. The three great Ikat (a tie and dye technique) traditions of India can be seen in the Patola of Gujarat, Sambalpur of Odisha and Pochampally of Telangana. Add to this the exquisite Kota Doria of Rajasthan and the Jamdhani of West Bengal and you have an unparalleled treasury of textiles that exists nowhere else in the world.

The handloom itself is a complex structure. Legend has it that the wiring system for computers was first inspired by the warp and weft of the loom, which allowed the weaver vast permutations and combinations to create his masterpieces in infinite variations, and this is what inspired the wiring of the mainframe.

Having survived at least 3,000 years, these indigenous textiles now face worrying prospects with the shrinking of the economy and the consequent loss of markets. The shutting down of the All India Handloom Board sounded alarm bells for the already beleaguered industry, and though the board was hardly functioning well, it could have been forced to pull its socks up and become a strong force to promote our handloom textiles all over the world. The results of this closure have yet to be ascertained.

While most of our heritage saris are woven on the handloom, they use machine made thread to weave as it's stronger and evenly produced. Khadi, on the other hand, is woven with irregular hand-spun thread from a charakha. This accounts for the beautiful textures and feel of this lovely fabric.

5

The khadi industry now also finds that it is unable to support itself, and the closure of many units like Prasanna's Charaka and Desi Khadi units is extremely worrying.

The government prefers to concentrate on power looms and think that converting handlooms by mechanising them will solve the weavers' problems. On the contrary, a heritage sari can never be woven on a power loom, which can only produce ordinary fabrics in large quantities for industrial and commercial usage.

What we need to realise is that if you count the agricultural industry which grows cotton, cultivates silkworms and rears sheep for wool, add them to the vast number of spinners, weavers, dyers, printers and embellishers who create these exquisite textiles, and then calculate the retail and marketing industry, the numbers are mind-boggling. Reviving this sector could create employment for millions of men and women, all working from home and earning well. We need to include the hand arts of India in the Prime Minister's skill programmes, which make no mention of hand-skills in their efforts to skill India.

Khadi and our handloom treasures need to be redefined as belonging in the luxury segment. Calling it humble is doing it a great disservice, for these are technically the last of the world's surviving hand-made textiles, and deserve a very high rating in the fashion lexicon. Our designers need to develop fabrics with our weavers instead of buying cheap Chinese imported fabrics, for this would make their work exclusive and non-copyable. The Rajasthan Heritage Project proved that it is possible to integrate and create partnerships between artisans and designers to develop new textiles and techniques that could create globally relevant products. This initiative, if replicated state wise, could revive the industry and make their products an international success, and most importantly, to get every one of you to commit to buying Khadi and handloom for a small percentage of your wardrobe.

Why waste money on fast-fashion when slow-fashion ticks all the boxes for sustainability, recyclability and other long-term benefits? Ultimately, it is your demand that will keep the supply chain alive and kicking. So do make the commitment!

On point: City students win big

Express Features

Sampada Guha, Yuv Verdia and Aryan Dixit have a lot to be happy about these days. The three Class 10 students came first in Debato 2020, an online debating competition conducted by ed tech company, School of Meaningful Experiences. The two-day event, which had categories for English and Hindi debates, concluded on Sept. 6, with these three Bengaluru students getting the first place in the English category. In total, over 100 teams (in both languages) took part from 30 Indian cities and other countries like Pakistan, Canada, Saudi Arabia and UAE. "It's a surreal experience, it was such a close match in both the semi-finals and finals," says Verdia. The three are students of National Public School, HSR Layout. They have won prizes worth ₹25,000, which includes a cash prize of ₹12,000, gift coupons and other goodies. "Our biggest learning was that if you apply your knowledge properly, nothing can stop you from winning," adds Verdia.

Over the course of the event, the students presented arguments for or against various topics like the reopening of Indian schools this year, government funding for space programmes, and India's ban on certain Chinese apps. While these topics were given on the spot (with 25 minutes for preparation), Guha, Verdia and Dixit had been preparing themselves with mock debates every night in the two weeks leading to the event. "We took up various topics and kept switching sides to cover every angle and rebuttal we could think of," says Dixit, who adds that his family is ecstatic to see his hard work come to fruition. Of all the topics that the youngster enjoyed the most was the philosophy topic that posed a hypothetical situation where man could be happy but he would have to give up free will. "I always thought free will is a constant but when the other team presented their stance on why it doesn't need to exist, it gave me some new insight. I learned to look at the matter in a different way," he explains. The other two took home similar lessons as well. Guha adds, "Debates teach me how to structure my thoughts. And just as importantly, I also learn how to be a good listener."

Day one of the event also witnessed a masterclass by former Rajya Sabha member Rajeev Gowda, who was in conversation with Dr Rakesh Godhwani, founder of School of Meaningful Experiences (SoME).

SPACE WATCH

HUBBLE TARGETS TILTED GALAXY

The blue and orange stars of the faint galaxy named NGC 2188 sparkle in this image taken with the NASA/ESA Hubble Space Telescope. Although NGC 2188 appears at first glance to consist solely of a narrow band of stars, it is classified by astronomers as a barred spiral galaxy. It appears this way from our viewpoint on Earth as the center and spiral arms of the galaxy are tilted away from us, with only the very narrow outer edge of the galaxy's disk visible to us. Astronomers liken this occurrence to turning a dinner plate in your hands so you see only its outer edge. The true shape of the galaxy was identified by studying the distribution of the stars in the inner central bulge and outer disk and by observing the stars' colors. NGC 2188 is estimated to be just half the size of our Milky Way, at 50,000 light-years across, and it is situated in the constellation of Columba (the Dove). Named in the late 1500s after Noah's dove in biblical stories, the small constellation consists of many faint yet beautiful stars and astronomical objects.

HOPE IS ALL HE'S GOT!

Thirteen-year-old Liem Kaplan is helping the homeless community by donating thousands of face masks, hand sanitiser and food in Washington. In May, he created The GivingHope Project to collect and donate essential supplies to unhoused community members, many of whom felt forgotten and unprepared to follow safety recommendations during the coronavirus pandemic. As his mother, Nancy, works as a home health and hospice worker, Liem understands how face masks and physical distancing can mitigate the virus. With her support, Liem began acquiring product-and-cash donations from individuals, businesses, the city and community groups to distribute to shelter programmes and organisations that serve vulnerable populations. To date The GivingHope Project has distributed more than 12,000 masks, 2,000 lunches, 6,000 peanut butter-and-jelly sandwiches, 4,000 pairs of socks and 2,500 bottles of hand sanitiser.

EKA PADA SARVANGASANA

(ONE-LEGGED SHOULDER STAND POSE)

In Sanskrit, 'eka' means 'one', 'pada' means 'leg', 'sarva' means 'all', 'anga' means 'limb', and 'asana' means 'pose'. This pose is suitable for those who are trying to perfect the Shoulder Stand or Plough Stand. It is included as a finishing pose in Ashtanga yoga. It can promote healthy, refreshing blood flow to the brain and heart after completing other poses that require the head, neck and heart to remain upright. Because the blood flow is 'reversed', this pose evokes a sense of calmness and can awaken the mind. It awakens Kundalini, the primal energy force coiled at the base of the spine. It also opens the Visuddhi, or throat, chakra, which is the purification centre for the body.

STEPS

- Come into Salamba Sarvangasana.
- Keep the left leg up in Sarvangasana.
- Exhale and move your right leg down to the floor like in Halasana. It should remain stiff and straight and not bend at the knee.
- While resting the right leg on the floor, your left knee should be kept taut and not allowed to tilt sideways.
- Your left leg should be kept straight, facing the head.
- Stay in the pose for 20 seconds maintaining normal breathing.
- Exhale, lift your right leg back to Sarvangasana, and then move your left leg down to the floor as in Halasana, keeping your right leg vertically up and stiff.
- Lifting your leg from the floor back to Sarvangasana exercises the abdominal organs more than if one brings both legs down to Halasana.
- Maintain the pose for same amount of time on both sides.

– by N Elumalai, PhD scholar (Yoga Science) at Meenakshi Academy of Higher Education & Research, Chennai

BENEFITS

- Stretches and strengthens shoulders and neck.
- Stimulates the thyroid and prostate glands.
- Stimulates and tones abdominal organs.
- Tones the legs and buttocks.
- Improves digestion.
- Relieves symptoms of menopause.
- Calms the brain and helps relieve stress and depression.
- Relieves asthma, infertility and sinusitis.
- Reduces fatigue and alleviates insomnia.

LIMITATIONS

- Don't be in a hurry to touch the foot to the floor. Rather, your attention should be to maintain the spine and legs straight. Don't cave in the chest.
- If you cannot maintain the final position, then the leg that is extending downwards should remain parallel to the floor and the foot may be supported on a chair.
- Keep the spine firm without allowing it to become convex.
- Don't practise inversions during menstruation.

KICHCHA CREATIONS TO PRODUCE ANUP BHANDARI'S ASHWATTHAMA

Director Sudeep has based his film on t he character from the Mahabharata, which will brought out as a contemporary fictional story

• A Sharadhaa

Kichcha Sudeep is set to present Ashwatthama, another ambitious project by Anup Bhandari, to be made under the banner of Kichcha Creations. Sudeep made the official announcement on Monday, taking to Twitter and posting that he is happy to say that the film Ashwatthama is being produced under his home banner. He also wished the director. The actor-director duo is currently collaborated for the film, Phantom produced by Manjunath Gowda.

The announcement also came with a poster, which shows an illustration of a person holding a gun, with an inset picture of a person holding-bow and arrow and a warlike scene. Also given are details, such as "Name: Ashwatthama, Father's Name: Dronacharya, Age: 5200 years, Current location: Unknown, and Mission: Loading." This has created a curiosity about this new project by Anup Bhandari.

"This was a script I had begun two years ago. It is about Ashwatthama, set in a contemporary fictional universe, with the characters still alive in today's world," says Anup Bhandari, adding, "I had discussed this idea with Sudeep, who was equally excited about the storyline, and decided to have the project made under his home banner. His association has certainly taken the project to another level."

Apart from Phantom, the director also has Billa Ranga Baashaa with Sudeep. "Though the announcement about Ashwatthama has been made now, this will not be my next immediate project," says Anup Bhandari, adding that while Phantom is a subject that takes place in the past, Billa Ranga Baashaa talks about the future, and Ashwatthama will create a character from the past in the contemporary situation.

Anup Bhandari wants to take this forward as a universal franchise. "This thought came to me when I began penning this project, and I want to develop it further by bringing in different mythological personalities to today's times," he says.

Ishaan Khatter, Ananya Panday's Khaali Peeli to release on Zee Plex

• CE Features

Khaali Peeli, starring Ananya Panday and Ishaan Khatter, is set for release on October 2. Producer Ali Abbas Zafar announced that the film will be directly released on Zee Plex, which is a pay-per-view service.

"Akkhi country jis mad ride ke peeche padi hai, woh aa rahi hai 2nd October ko! Toh public ready ho jao, Khaali Peeli ke liye (The mad ride, the whole country is after, is arriving on October 2. So public be ready for Khaali Peeli), arriving exclusively on Zee Plex," Ali tweeted.

Helmed by debutant Maqbool Khan, the film was initially scheduled for release in theatres on June 12. It was delayed due to the coronavirus pandemic and the last leg of shooting was carried out in late August.

The film is said to be an 'edgy masala entertainer' set in Mumbai and features Jaideep Ahlawat as the antagonist.

Khaali Peeli is co-produced by AAZ Films, Offside Entertainment and ZEE Studios.

Everything is special about Ikkat, my lockdown debut: Bhoomi Shetty

The actor, who is making a transition from teleserials to the silver screen, is excited to be part of a comedy-drama directed by Esham Khan and Haseen Khan

Esham Khan and Haseen Khan

Ikkat marks the silver screen debut of Bhoomi Shetty. The actor, who became a household name with her serial, Kinnari, saw her popularity rise further with her stint in Bigg Boss Season 7. She now forays into tinsel town with a comedy-drama, in which she is paired opposite Nagabhushan, who plays the lead role. Directed by Esham Khan and his brother Haseen Khan, who has previously directed the web series, Loose Connection, and the yet-to-be-released Hate You Romeo, Ikkat will be their first feature film, made by their production house, Haseen and Esham.

The project feels special for Bhoomi since she bagged it during the lockdown period. The subject too is about the lockdown days, for which she completed the shooting during the lockdown. It is a story about a couple on the verge of divorce who have to stay together during the lockdown as a nasty surprise awaits them. All of this has been brought out in a lighter manner.

Sharing her experience of working in a film that is all about the lockdown, Bhoomi says it was an unexpected project that came her way, and the story was so exciting that she couldn't refuse the offer. "Just at a time when we were thinking we couldn't do any work in the year 2020, shooting a film during this pandemic situation was quite an achievement. The whole shooting took place in a short period and with minimal crew, and I feel great that we succeeded in completing the project during these hard times," says Bhoomi, who adds that the film is now in post-production stages.

Ikkat is a comedy-drama that everyone can relate to, says Bhoomi, who feels that it is a perfect story to begin her career on the silver screen. "I don't like to be called a heroine, and I like to be addressed as an artiste because my aim has always been to play different shades and be part of unique stories. Ikkat is a story that will connect with the common audience, and I felt good to start my film journey with this project," says the newcomer.

Apart from the leads, the film also stars RJ Vikky, Sunder and Anand Ninasam. Ikkat has Suddho Roy and Lavith handling the music and cinematography respectively.

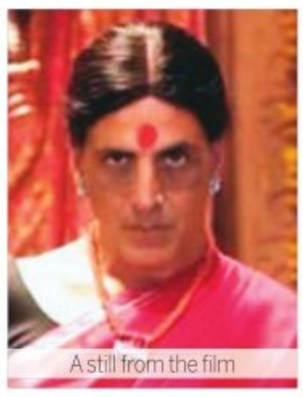
Akshay Kumar-starrer Laxmmi Bomb to release on OTT as scheduled, say reports

• CE Features

Akshay Kumar-starrer Laxmmi Bomb is among the several Bollywood films headed for an OTT release. Directed by Raghava Lawrence, the film is a remake of the 2011 Tamil horror comedy, Muni 2: Kanchana. Besides Akshay, the film also stars Kiara Advani, Tusshar Kapoor and Sharad Kelkar.



A still from the film

Earlier today, it was rumoured that Laxmmi Bomb had been pulled from its OTT schedule and was being reconsidered for a theatrical release. This, however, has been refuted by the makers, according to a report in Hindustan Times. The report says Laxmi Bomb is on pace for its digital release on Disney+ Hotstar in November. The makers also clarified that the film was never meant to be released on Akshay Kumar's birthday on September 9, as a recent report stated.

Since the lockdown, Disney+ Hotstar has premiered the Hindi films Dil Bechara, Lootcase, Khuda Haafiz, and Sadak 2 on the platform. Their other titles slated for release include Bhuj: The Pride of India and The Big Bull.

Nepotism conversation is complicated and not just related to film industry, says Radhika Apte

Actress Radhika Apte feels the nepotism conversation is complicated, and not just related to the film industry.

"I don't want to be a part of this discussion, really," Radhika told IANS when asked about the ongoing nepotism discussion, adding: "It is not just about the insider and the outsider. It is a larger discussion. There is not one answer to it. As a society, we have supported nepotism a lot and it's not just the film industry. In order to change everything, we all need to change how we look at it," she added.

Talking about how difficult it is to make a name in Bollywood, the actress said: "I think it's difficult for both the insider and the outsider to be successful. Success is not just about being born into a family. It is a complicated answer. I don't think it's easy to answer that."

Earlier in an interview to IANS, Radhika shared that she does not want to get stuck in something convenient or be satisfied, and she is not chasing fame. "I'm not here for fame. I do like the perks sometimes, but I don't take success and failure seriously," Radhika told IANS.

Radhika entered the industry with a small role in the 2005 release Vaah! Life Ho Toh Aisi!, and went on to do films like Shor In The City, Kabali, Phobia, Badlapur and the short film Ahalya. The actress is credited for breaking the stereotypical image of the Bollywood heroine with her roles in Phobia, Badlapur, Manjhi: The Mountain Man, Lust Stories, Sacred Games, Pad Man and Ghoul.

Virtual Grandeur

St. Mary's Feast, which celebrates the birth of Mother Mary, is the most important festival celebrated in the St. Mary's Basilica and is attended by thousands of people. Usually held this month, the festivities go on for nine days culminating in a grand chariot procession today, but this year will be low-key.

With the coronavirus pandemic casting its shadow on the fest, the nine-day event has been a muted affair this year.

All spiritual programmes have been live streamed through various digital platforms since August 29, and the Feast Day, today, will also follow the same route.

Tradition

Every year, the festivities begin with the hoisting of a traditional flag. A Novena (an ancient tradition of devotional praying in Christianity) is held on the first nine days from 29 August to 7 September. September 8, the day on which Mother Mary was born, is celebrated as a Holy feast. Mass is offered in different languages and mass marriages are conducted for the poor and needy. A thanksgiving Mass is also organised for couples who have completed 50 years of marriage. Eucharistic celebrations are held on the day of the feast and a decorated chariot with the image of Mother Mary is drawn by devotees along the various streets of Bengaluru.

History

St. Mary's Basilica had a humble beginning as a thatched hut in the 17th century, built by Tamil Christian migrants from Gingee. The Shrine was then known as 'Chapel of Kanikkai Madha' and was located in their village where rice was grown. The rice grown in the village had a distinct white colour, and hence the settlement came to known as Bili Akki Palli or colloquially known as "Blackpally" (now known as Shivajinagar). Blackpally could have been named after John Blakiston (1785-1867), who designed the layout of the Bangalore Cantonment.

The church was rebuilt during the years 1856–1882 under its original name, the Church of our Lady of the Presentation. The current form of the majestic Gothic-style church is credited to Rev. L. E. Kleiner. It was consecrated on 8 September 1882 by Bishop Jean-Yves-Marie Coadou, the Vicar Apostolic of Mysore, in the presence of 35 priests and 4,000 Catholics of Bangalore. The total amount spent on the construction of the new church. including the pulpit and the statues, was Rs. 29,659.

Over time, the church of St. Mary's at Blackpally had become a parish and has since overseen the construction of other churches in Bangalore, most prominently St. Francis Xavier's Cathedral (1851), St. Joseph's Church (1867), and Sacred Heart Church, Ashoknagar (1867). The church was elevated to the status of a minor basilica in 1973 through an edict issued by Pope Paul VI. It was the sixth church in India to be elevated to this status.

The basilica has been built in the Gothic style with arches, ornamental motifs, and stained glass windows. Multiple columns with Corinthian capitals support the arches of the Church.

The columns and tall spires of the basilica can be seen from far away. The stained glass windows were removed during World War II and were subsequently restored in 1947.
